PA NEWC OBSERVES

Rather strangely, the Shenango river keeps dropping off a few inches a day in spite of the fact that it has rained fairly steadily now for the last ten days. The rains have evidently been soaking into the ground, not enough surplus accumulating to run off into the streams.

With the report of two persons being bitten by dogs, made to the police yesterday, it is evident that the police war on dogs running at large should be prosecuted with more vigor than ever. Streets of this city must be safe against the dog menace.

Steam shovels are making rapid progress with the excavating work on Laurel boulevard. The excavating has been nearly completed on the Fairmont avenue paving contract.

Rain seems to be plentiful these days. There is no doubt of the long drought having been broken in western Pennsylvania.

Slowly but surely the ranks of the veterans of 1861 are dwindling, but it was a great joy to see 11 of the "honored boys" gather for the memorial dinner given for them Tuesday by the Daughters of Union Veterans. There are so few of them left that this number seemed like a company when one sees so many G. A. R. posts dissolve because there is no one left to carry on.

Among Pa Newc's mail this morning was a nice fat letter, and when it was opened Pa Newc found a dandelion of freak nature which had been found by little Joyce Webb, the 3½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb of the Mt. Jackson road. There are four full sized dandelion heads on one stem. Anyone else found any funny dandelions?

A refreshing rain again hurried pedestrians along the streets this afternoon, some to wonder whether the farmers will need to complain about a water shortage this year.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather bureau statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follow:
Maximum temperature, 60.
Minimum temperature, 50.
Precipitation, .30 inch.
River stage 6.8 feet, falling.

Lawrence County Legislators Vote Against Sunday Base Ball

Lawrence County's representatives in the House, at Harrisburg,, Bart Richards of New Castle, and Attorney William McElwee, Jr., of the county, both voted against the Sunday base ball bill at the Tuesday afternoon session.

The bill is one which would grant option to counties to vote on the question of legalizing Sunday afternoon base ball.

It must be passed by the Senate and signed by the governor before it would become a legal measure.

The bill passed the house 106 to 98, and represents the first anti-blue law measure to receive sanction in this state legislative branch in many years.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT REVEALS ALLEGED WIFE TRADING

(International News Service)

MODESTO, Cal., May 13.—Following a suicide attempt, Mrs. Alice Ruby McClelland, 34-year-old "Love Bride" of Owen E. Morse, Modesto rancher, remained in a critical condition here today at a hospital while Morse expressed hopes that she would recover and return to him.

Morse told authorities that Mrs. McClelland came to live with him as a result of a mutual agreement" whereby he traded his own wife to Mrs. McClelland's husband, Elmer McClelland.

The wife trading was denied by McClelland and by Mrs. Morse, who was at the home of her parents at Oakland.

"Certainly I have not been a party to any wife trading," Mrs. Morse said, who denied emphatically that she had been living with Elmer McClelland. "I know that the McClellands have been separated for sometime, but I did not consider my separation from my husband as permanent. Intended returning to him."

McClelland was equally emphatic in his denial.

Mrs. McClelland shot herself at Morse's home after writing suicide notes for both her legal and her unofficial husbands.

French National Assembly Meets Today To Select New President

ARISTIDE BRIAND AMONG CANDIDATES

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VERSAILLES, France, May 13.—The French National Assembly, called for the purpose of electing the 13th president of France, to succeed Jovial Gaston Doumergue, was called to order at 2:08 p. m., today in the ancient palace of Versailles, with M. Fernand Rabier presiding.

Rabier, vice president of the senate, presided in the place of M. Paul Doumer, the president of that body, since Doumer is a candidate for the presidency of France.

Article three of French constitutional law was read by Rabier. He then inserted a papercutter at random in a dictionary and turned to the page where the knife had been inserted. The first letter on this page was "L."

In this way it was determined that the voting for presidential candidates would start with those senators and deputies whose surnames begin with "L." The voting then continues in rotation through the alphabet to the "Z's," before the "A's" have an opportunity to vote.

"Sheik" Slayer On Trial At Erie For Murdering Of Girl

State Demands Death Penalty For Anthony Wieczorowski For Girl's Death

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., May 13.—The state today continued its presentation of the evidence by which it seeks to send Anthony Wieczorkowski, 29, of Erie, to the electric chair for the murder last December 29, of Mary Sobuski, 22-year-old McKean girl, whose decomposed body was found floating on the waters of Lake Erie some months later.

Before the nine men and three women which compose the jury, District Attorney Otto Herbst outlined the story of the girl's murder in great detail. The prosecutor claimed that Wieczorkowski choked the girl to death on a lonely road and then threw her weighted body into the waters of Presque Isle Bay. Motive for the crime he established as Wieczorkowski's anger because the victim told several friends that the defendant was the father of her babe yet to be born.

Wieczorkowski remained calm as the first of the state's witnesses set about to identify the Sobuski girl's clothing, the 17-pound chain with which the body was weighted; and photographs of the victim as her body lay on a slab in the Erie county morgue.

Hundreds of interested spectators were refused admittance to the crowded courtroom of Judge William E. Hirt. Only members of the immediate families of the defendant and the victim, counsel and witnesses were permitted to sit in the chamber.

Pittsburgh Man Meets Death As Machines Crash

Triple Wreck Caused By Fleeing Machine Ends In Fatality

ANOTHER MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Police Cruiser Chases Car Through Red-Light Causing Smashup

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—One man was killed instantly and another man was injured, perhaps fatally, today in a triple automobile crash that occurred when a fleeing machine, pursued by a police radio cruiser, was driven through a stop light after a hot pistol battle in Highland Park.

The dead man was identified as Martin Ambrose, 22, an occupant of the machine which was pursued by the officers, police said. Edward Rodgers, 36, pinned in the wreckage of his machine which was struck by the fleeing automobile, was taken to Pittsburgh hospital with a fractured skull.

Two companions of Ambrose escaped in the confusion following the accident.

Officers Fired Upon

Patrolmen John O'Connor and Leon Dayton, assigned to the cruiser reported they stopped in Highland Park to investigate a machine parked without light. As O'Connor neared the darkened car, he said, the occupants opened fire without warning.

He and Dayton immediately returned the fire. During the exchange of bullets, a man in the driver's seat of the suspected car shifted into gear and the car sped away, pursued by the police cruiser.

At the intersection of Stanton and Highland avenues the driver of the fleeing machine disregarded a red stoplight and the crash with Rodger's machine followed. Automobiles driven by Jack Smith and J. W. Cuthen were partially wrecked when the car being pursued by police overturned.

The car occupied by Ambrose and two companions, police said, was owned by Mrs. Cora Allen and was reported stolen shortly after the crash by Earl Gibson who said it had been stolen in front of a home where he had been visiting.

Police Hunting Prodigy Slayer

Believe Six Of Seven Men Took Part In Sloane's Murder

MOTIVE FOR CRIME IS NOT UNCOVERED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 13.—At least six men—perhaps seven—had a part in the ruthless premeditated slaying of Roy Herbert Sloane, the one-time "boy prodigy" and university educated criminal, the police declared today as they concentrated their efforts to run down the murderers.

Sloane's bizarre career came to an abupt end early yesterday morning when he was "put on the spot" in the vicinity of the Mad Dot Boat Club, an alleged speakeasy.

The whole thing was arranged in advance, according to the opinion of the authorities, but the motive was obscure. The police thought there is a possibility that Sloane, once convicted of automobile thievery, had become connected with a car-stealing syndicate and that his underworld associates mistrusted him and decided to "rub him out".

Sloane was an ingratiating, smooth tongued individual and his newfound pals of the underworld may have figured he was intending to give them the "double-cross", according to the police theory. Since Sloane's arrest February 19 in a Fifth avenue gem robbery, detectives have been watching him and they reported that there were indications that, in desperation to raise money for his defense in the gem charge he hooked up with an automobile-stealing ring.

His heart-broken mother, Mrs. Anna Bogenholm Sloane, founder of the Arts and Crafts Institute of Washington and an author of several books, one of them being on the proper upbringing of children, insisted, however, that her son since his release from Sing Sing

Roux Store Is Again Robbed

Lone Robber In New Wilmington Secures $383 This Morning

STATE POLICE ARE HUNTING ROBBER

While he was opening a safe in the J. B. Roux company store at New Wilmington early today, C. L. Klumph, manager, was attacked by a lone bandit who stole about $383 from the safe and escaped, state police report. It was the second time during a few months that a robbery occurred at the Roux store. State police are searching for the robber. Mr. Klumph opened the store at 7 a. m., eastern standard time and a son went to a car of feed stationed on a nearby railroad track.

As Mr. Klumph bent over and opened the safe, he was seized by the neck and thrown aside. The bandit threatened the manager and told him to go into a rear room.

Klumph left the building by another route and informed his son who telephoned to the state police at Mercer. A call was later sent to New Castle.

When Klumph and his son returned to the store the bandit had fled. He had cut the telephone wires.

The only description Klumph could give, according to the police was that the bandit weighed about 180 pounds.

Klumph did not know whether or not he had a revolver and said he did not get a good look at the robber. Klumph's shirt was torn when the bandit seized him from behind and he was shocked by the second robbery within a few months.

Guards Fire On Rioting Crowds In Cordova, Spain

GUARDS TO HALT FUTURE RIOTING

Estimate Loss At $30,000,000 In Fires Started By Spanish Rioters

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, May 13.—Blood flowed freely in strife-torn Spain today as civil guards met the onslaughts of anti-clerical vandals in Cordova with a hail of lead. Four were killed and 30 wounded in a pitched battle following an attempt to burn the Convent of Saint Cayetano in the ancient Spanish city.

The shooting marked the stiffening of opposition by the Provisional Republican government to the activities of the anti-Clericals, who it alleges are being inspired to their destructive vandalish by former King Alfonso and his monarchical satellites.

Open Fire On Mob.

Acting on instructions from the Madrid government to deal without mercy to the perpetrators of any new outrages, civil guards opened fire on the mob when it approached the convent with the obvious intention of burning it to the ground.

Panic-stricken when bullets whistled in their midst, the mob took to flight. Reaching the Cordova Armory, the rioters broke in the doors and seized arms and ammunition, and then met the guards in battle. Four civilians were killed and two guards and thirty rioters wounded before the shooting ended.

The government immediately placed the city under martial law, a step taken previously in Madrid, Seville and other places where the

Legislative Relief Bills Are Lagging

Only Two Unemployment Projects Have Been Enacted By State Assembly

LEGISLATURE IS BEHIND IN PROGRAM

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Legislative relief for the aid of the unemployed is lagging. Since the session started in January only two bills appropriating funds for immediate construction have been passed and signed by the governor.

Some weeks ago Governor Pinchot approved a bill to appropriate $940,000 to the Pennsylvania State college for new buildings while last week he signed a bill for $1,500,000 to be used for construction of the dam at the Pymatuning reservoir site in western Pennsylvania.

In his inaugural address the governor recommended the appropriation of approximately $14,000,000 for construction to be started before the expiration of the present biennium which closes May 31. So far only two bills have been passed but until plans have been prepared for the projects no contract awards can be made.

The bill carrying more than $9,000,000 for welfare institutions has not yet been passed by both houses. With the delay in getting the bills through the legislature it is doubtful whether any of the welfare buildings could be started before late in the summer.

The administration bill providing for a loan of $10,000,000 from the general fund to finance highway construction this summer has been passed by the house. This money is to be repaid during the next biennium as the motor fund permits.

Blame for the delay in enacting the relief measures can not be placed solely on the shoulders of the general assembly. The legislature was in session for many weeks before the administration unemployment bills were introduced. Had they been ready for submission at the beginning of the session much of the construction could have been under way by this time.

There was a persistent report today that the slayers of Sloane are known to the police and that plans were being laid to round them up. Detectives had two of them spotted in an uptown apartment, according to this information. The police were marking time for the present, it was explained, to permit the others to get in touch with their shadowed accomplices and then the round-up will be staged. At least six, and perhaps seven, underworld characters are believed to have been involved in the ambuscade of Sloane.

Jiggs and Simpkins had been friends since early boyhood. And their friendship was such as to stand despite occasional loans of money. When Jiggs therefore sought to raise some money on a mortgage, Simpkins suggested that he, Simpkins, take the mortgage from him. And so it was done. When the mortgage still had a year to run, Simpkins met Jiggs, as he frequently did, and said he would allow Jiggs a certain discount if Jiggs could raise the money or find somebody to take up the mortgage during the current month.

It seemed that Simpkins was in need of money himself. Jiggs replied that he would like to take up the offer, and that he hoped he could arrange it. A day or two before the month was over, Jiggs came with the money to his friend Simpkins, but strange to say, Simpkins had already sold the mortgage at its face value, and so told Jiggs. And here the friendship between them collapsed. Jiggs was quite put out about it, and the more he thought of it the worse he felt. So badly did he feel, in fact, that he filed suit against his friend Simpkins.

saying he killed the couple in self-defense, indicated the case would be given to the Stark county grand jury next week.

Confesses Killings

Although Thomas, a wheel-chair invalid, and his wife were slain on May 2 last, the bodies were not discovered until last Saturday when Mrs. Mae Wilt, the farmhand's mother, sent a neighbor to the Thomas' home to investigate her son's mysterious absence.

According to Prosecutor Aungst, Wilt said he attacked Mrs. Thomas with a hatchet when she resisted his attempts to take $12 which she had "docked" from his pay on the purchase of a suit from Thomas. When Thomas came to the aid of his wife with a butcher knife, the youth said he struck the farmer with the hatchet, according to the prosecutor.

The prosecutor quoted Wilt as relating how he had wrapped the bodies in an overcoat and stuffed them in the closet, and then drove away in the Thomas' automobile which he had loaded with provisions.

Young Wilt returned to the farm house daily, the prosecutor said, removing various articles and implements, some of which were sold and the remainder given away.

No Election On First Ballot

Versailles, France, May 13.—Aristride Briand, veteran foreign minister, failed of election as the 13th president of France today on the first ballot cast by the French National Assembly, according to an unofficial announcement when the ballots had been counted.

As no one candidate had received a clear-cut majority of votes of the approximately 900 deputies and senators present, another ballot would be necessary, it was stated.

According to the unofficial figures Paul Doumer, president of the senate, and long considered Briand's most formidable rival, received 432 votes; Briand 391, with 79 votes scattered among other candidates.

Since 902 votes were cast, a majority was lacking and it was officially announced that another ballot would be taken.

Minister of Fiance Flandin told an International News Service representative that "Briand has officially withdrawn from the race. He does not, however, consider the vote a reflection upon his foreign policy and will depart for Geneva tomorrow."

depredations of the anti-clericals have destroyed 21 churches and religious buildings, driven 50,000 nuns and monks from convents and schools and caused property damage estimated at more than $30,000,000.

Martial law also was declared in force at Granada, Murcia, Cartagena and Apanpaez as the result of anti-religious demonstrations.

Pope Pius XI Concerned.

Official circles refused comment on reports from Rome that Pope Pius XI is seriously concerned over the disturbances.

Attempts to burn convents also were made this morning in Barcelona and Valencia. In the former city, troops patrolling the streets frustrated the attempt and arrested a number of ringleaders, alleged to have been Monarchists.

At Valencia, two separate attempts were made, and in each instance, the rioters succeeded in putting the torch to convents. Firemen extinguished the blazes before much damage was done and the vandals were dispersed by civil guards.

The new flare-up of violence followed several hours of complete calm, which had led the government to believe the worst was over. Shocked anew by the continued attempts, the government strengthened its order to police and civil guards, in structing them to shoot vandals on sight, and took strenuous measures to prevent any disorders at the burial of three victims of the riots in Madrid this afternoon.

Prohibits Demonstrations.

The government issued a decree prohibiting a projected Communist demonstration in connection with the funerals, and decided to hold the interment in private. Special detachments of police and troops were assigned to various sections of the city to forestall any attempt at a Communist gathering.

It was estimated today that approximately 200 persons were under arrest in connection with the disorders. Most of them were reported to be Communists, in spite of the government's charge that the riots were plotted and engineered by Royalists.

Captain Quipe De Llano, commander of the Madrid garrison, said his investigations showed an "army" of about 3,000 agitators were spread throughout the country, leading the various attacks and then spurring the rabble on to looting the ruined premises.

Reports received here said Communists were extending their activities to the halting and searching of travelers on the roads. Several American tourists were reported halted by mobs between Algeciras and Gibraltar, but allowed to proceed when they produced their passports.

Meanwhile, the government proceeded with its plans to indict former King Alfonso and Monarchist leaders on charges of inciting the riots in an effort to obtain the overthrow of the Republican regime.

Sack Parish Church.

GIBRALTAR, May 13.—A band of hoodlums, prompted by the anti-religious riots in Madrid and elsewhere, sacked the parish church at Lalinea, just north of the Gibraltar boundary line, today. The mob scattered sacred vessels and ecclesiastical vestments in the streets.

Martial law was immediately proclaimed in the town and troops placed on picket duty in the streets.

Nuns driven out of Spanish convents by the anti-religious demonstrations are arriving hourly at Gibraltar.

Seville, Spain, May 13—One communist was seriously injured this afternoon when the civil guard fired on a mob during a fresh outbreak of rioting here.

The mob, in spite of the efforts of the guardsmen, in setting fire to a convent, but later were driven off by the troops.

Madrid, May 13.—Notwithstanding the widespread destruction of Catholic church property in many cities throughout Spain during the past three days, the Vatican has made no formal protest to the republican provisional government of President Zamora, the papal nuncio to Spain informed International News Service today.

The nuncio said he had received no instructions from the Vatican to demand redress or an apology from the Spanish government, the attitude of the Vatican being one of reluctance to add further difficulties to those with which the Spanish government already is faced.

Perhaps the juvenile crime wave can be traced to the passing of the woodshed.

STAR LORE
EARTH'S LUNAR MOTION DETERMINES MOON'S MASS
Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The earth's orbit around the sun makes a slightly wave-like path produced by the gravitational pull of the moon in its smoothly orbit around the earth. Earth and moon have a common center of gravity between them around which they rotate, located 2,880 miles from the earth's center, but 1,018 miles within the earth's surface. That is, the center of gravity between earth and moon is 82.5 times nearer to the earth's center than it is the moon's center. This fact proves the mass—amount of matter—of the moon is but 1-82.5 as great as that of the earth's. Thus earth and moon behave much like a double star.

Later tasty refreshments were served by the hostess in the dining room at a table cleverly decorated. A novelty umbrella graced the center, with streamers of various pastel hues leading to each guest's place with a miniature doll tied at the end. Beneath the umbrella were found a collection of packages for the guest of honor, and when opened, revealed many beautiful gifts.

BAPTIST MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS DINE

The dining room of the First Baptist church presented a gorgeous appearance Tuesday evening when over 200 mothers and daughters joined in the annual Mother-Daughter banquet.

The decoration of the tables was in the hands of the various sections of the Missionary society and each table vied with the other in beauty of color and arrangement. One table was done in green, large bowls of green carnations as the centerpiece, tall green tapers and green streamers being used most effectively, the places were marked with clever green place cards; another table was done in a rose shade, the center piece being a tall vase of rose colored tulips, the tall tapers were tied with rose bows, the streamers and place cards were in the same shade; another table was in orange, calendulas being used in the centerpiece, the tapers, streamers and place cards being in orange; yellow came next, with marguerites as the centerpiece, all appointments being in yellow; then came the orchid table; the tall tulips used in decoration, the tapers and all appointments used in this color; then came the pink table, with small boquets of sweet peas being used at intervals along the table, with pink tapers between, and all appointments in pink. Miss Verlee Armstrong fashioned all the place cards.

The delicious menu was prepared by Mrs. D. R. Smith and her group and the Men's class members, under the direction of John Owens, did the serving.

Mrs. W. H. Williams acted as toastmistress and introduced the various numbers on the program. Mrs. H. A. Sturdy asked the blessing and the orchestra made things hum throughout the serving of the dinner and at intervals through the evening. This unique orchestra was led by Hazel Roberts, and was composed of Catherine Nitsche, Elizabeth Tice, Laura May Boulden, Laura Post, Julia Anne McCoy, Hester Mariacher, Peggy Dent, Barbara Nesbitt, Naomi Sturtevant, Ethel Freeman, Viola Sankey, with Olive Fern Sanford at the piano. The instruments had been found in the kitchen cabinet and the girls, dressed in quaint house dresses, wore aprons and caps, but the music they brought forth from the attached "kazoos" brought forth much applause.

The toast to the mothers was given by Pearl Hockenberry, and in the absence of Mrs. G. M. Landis on account of illness, Mrs. W. H. Williams gave the response to the daughters; a duet, "That Old Irish Mother of Mine" was sung by Helen Garrett and Kathryn Russler, with Mrs. J. V. Macom at the piano; the pep singing was cleverly led by Mrs. P. D. Weller.

A playette "The Secret" was given by Virginia Callahan, Mary E. McClain, Ruth Simons, Marjorie Pattison and Genevieve McCalmont. Mrs. P. D. Weller sang "The Piper of Love", accompanied by Elizabeth Owens, and responded to an encore; Mrs. G. G. THE TARIFF AND WORLD-WIDE DEPRESSION

FROM New York comes the announcement that "The Council for Tariff Reduction" is being formed "by a number of prominent economists, editors, lawyers and manufacturers" to bring about tariff reform and thus "end the world-wide depression" which has born so heavily on the workingman. The purpose is "to press upon congress the absolute need of prompt action in its approaching session for a reduction of the tariff of 1930, the ill effects of which have been immediately evident both within our borders and in international relations." The strangest thing about this assertion is that those who make it really believe it to be true. They are obsessed with the idea that free trade will remove all the ills which affect the world today.

No matter what views we entertain on our latest tariff act, it must be perfectly obvious that it has no relation to the depression which exists in all parts of the civilized world; and the notion that a downward revision of the Smoot-Hawley bill would end hard times is so ludicrous that one can hardly believe it is made seriously. The effect of such action in this country would be to make our business depression all but permanent. Tariffs have their effects upon trade, naturally; but the idea of blaming them for the present state of things would only be thought of by the theorists who are about to form the "Council for Tariff Reduction," and who have started the movement by asking for the blessing of the International Chamber of Commerce now in session in Washington. How strongly they feel on the matter may be imagined when it is said that they consider the proposed reduction in armaments second in importance to the ending of port barriers.

All these things may be reasoned with mathematical precision; and each professor in the new movement can take a sheet of paper and show just how it is going to work out. But we greatly fear that, if an attempt were made to put it into practice, the result would sadly disappoint its authors. The trouble with these gentlemen is that they ignore the fact that the United States is in reality 66 per cent free trade today; that percentage of articles has been listed in the Smoot-Hawley bill as absolutely free of duty. The balance of trade has only been affected in a slight degree by the new law. The kindest thing that can be said of the statisticians who give us figures to the contrary is that they are very expert statisticians.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

UNNECESSARY

Although a victim of well-meaning friends and party workers who in the heat of campaign built about him the myth of the superman and miracle worker, which crashed with the collapse of the stock market and prosperity, it is doubtful if President Hoover needs the campaign of defense and education to "save his face."

Partisan opponents may call him a "failure" and his administration a "calamity," and the hysterical may deceive themselves into believing that another man in the white house would have saved the country from depression, unemployment and stock market losses, but the great majority of Americans are fair enough and sufficiently informed to discount these ravings.

President Hoover, nor any other one man, could not have prevented the economic collapse that began in 1929, but Mr. Hoover has vindicated the claims made for him in 1928 by his masterful handling of the relief problem and the work of reconstruction.

Sanity is being restored in quarters where the frenzy of unemployment and business depression has provoked hasty and ill-founded conclusions and indictments of public policy.

WATERSHED REFORESTATION

That the serious drought of 1930 did not dry up the enthusiasm of water companies in Pennsylvania for the reforestation of their watersheds is evidenced by the extent to which these companies are engaged in tree planting during the present spring season, according to Secretary Lewis E. Staley, of the State Department of Forests and Waters.

Fifty-two water companies have been supplied with 937,000 trees from the state forest tree nurseries this year. These companies are located in 31 different countries of the commonwealth. A number of these companies are planting trees for the first time, probably stimulated to activity by the successful efforts of other companies in past years, who have demonstrated to their own satisfaction, says Secretary Staley, that tree planting pays in the protection of watersheds from erosion and sustaining stream flow in times of otherwise low water from unprotected areas.

The last serious drought in Pennsylvania previous to that of the past year was in 1922. In that year a state-wide survey of watersheds, representing a wide range of conditions, showed that those which had been planted or were covered with a thrifty and well protected natural growth of trees had invariably safeguarded the water supplies. Lack of water for drinking and industrial purposes was least noticeable in such cases.

Officials of the York Water company, which has established approximately a thousand acres of plantations about its impounding basins, said that during the 1922 drought, by reason of reforestation, it was estimated that the flow of springs had increased 50 per cent and undoubtedly tided over the dry weather season, whereas without this development there might have been considerable and undoubtedly restricted use of the public water supply.

Water companies have become one of the most active groups of tree planters in Pennsylvania. Half of this planting has been done in the last five years. Several million additional trees have been planted from private nurseries. The Department of Forests and Waters first distributed trees to water companies in 1910. Since then 133 companies have set out 12,303,000 trees from the state nurseries.

Protection of the watershed and the water supply, through preservation of the forest cover, is of primary importance, and the income derived from mature trees, here and there in the forests, although it may eventually add substantial revenues for the company, becomes incidental to the chief purpose of forest management.

Do You Believe in Magic? The Happy People Do It Embroiders This World

By MARSHALL MASLIN

The happy people on this earth believe in magic.

They surely do. Youngsters believe in it. For them horsehairs turn into snakes. Dirty dishrags banish warts. Dreams come true. They wish on double almonds, on chicken bones, four-leaf clovers. They say bread and butter at appropriate times, to prevent a quarrel. They believe in it, all right.

It's a drab life for people who do not believe in magic. They look at houses and they see only sticks and stones. They look at cities and see tenements and smokestacks, prisons for the spirit of men and women. They look at human beings and see flesh and pain and grief. They look at life and think of death. They do not believe in magic.

But I've known people—grown up and "old enough to know better"—who still believe in magic. I don't mean that they believe in the Evil Eye and the Mysterious Rite, that they are superstitious. But they believe in Life. They live cheerfully, with enthusiasm. They expect something to happen—and, for them, it almost always does.

Wherever they go they meet some one interesting. Things happen to them that do not happen to other people. They're always having adventures, they're always having a Good Time. They fall into difficulties and bounce right out of them again. They rise to happiness and sustain their high moments of joy much longer than the rest of us can do it.

I'm quite certain that life is like this for them because they do believe in Magic. They shame their friends out of laziness, pessimism, distrust, weakness, and they take their own medicine. And if they are in a "hopeless" fight, it is not hopeless to them.

They continue saying, "Something will happen. We musn't give up, and sometimes "it" does happen. Life's not a trial to them; it's an adventure.. Trouble isn't a heavy burden; it's a chance to show what's in them. People aren't a bore; they are "interesting." Living isn't a mere sleight of hand; it's a Magical Experience.

They believe in Magic and force you to believe it, too. If it works for them, surely it ought to work for you.

THE FISH THAT GETS AWAY

Some mourn the fish that gets away
And boast his size and weight,
They stop their friends at night to say
How sorry was their fate.
Almost unto the net they'd brought
This beauty superfine,
It seemed to them they had him caught
And then he snapped the line.

Oh, yes, they had some fish to show
For all the time they'd spent;
Some luck they'd been allowed to know,
But they were not content.
The ones they'd caught seemed rather small
When put upon display,
And could not be compared at all
With that which got away.

He broke but once where sunbeams dance
Upon the waters blue,
And though at him they'd but a glance
His weight and size they knew.
Not one in all their splendid catch
Which came to them that day
For beauty could begin to match
The fish which got away.

Perhaps against us one and all
Could lie the self-same charge;
The joys we catch seem very small,
The ones we lose seem large.
We pass our many blessings by
As though no worth had they,
And dolefully we magnify
The joy that gets away.

"Makeing a newspaper is very interesting.

"First the boys go out to get the news. They go to the plocistation hospital, stors, banks and Rowayton.

"First they write the story and then take it to Roy. If Roy thinks it all right the boys take it to the machine. The machine makes it in the led letters.

"They put all the led letters in rows on the iron table. Then the led letters are made into pink paper. Then they make the pink paper into solid led.

Dear Hints and Dints: When I was a kid on the farm, we had but two stoves, one was the range in the kitchen and the other was a big hard coal burner in the living room. In the winter my brother and I would undress downstars by the stove, then scuttle upstairs to bed and lay all twisted up into a knot until the bed got warm. In the morning we would hit the cold floor, don our long woolen underwear and make a break for the stairway. We would stand behind the stove until the room was warm and breakfast was nearly ready; then we would hastily jump into the rest of our clothes and race for the wash basin.

Then out to the barn to do the chores. Mother invariably had to hold up breakfast for us. And what a breakfast it was. Oatmeal, hot biscuits, ham and eggs, sausage, or bacon, whichever you preferred. There was always plenty of fruit and jams on the table. This was varied with hot cakes. Loads of them. I could eat from a dozen to a dozen and a half myself. There were five in the family, so you can imagine what a stack of them it took to go around. And never a thought of indigestion. Government Expense Issuse Starts Warm Controversy

Senator Borah And Congress Share With Executive Departments In Public Estimates Of Causes Of Growing Appropriations

Senator Borah's reply to the advice from President Hoover that Congress should hold governmental expenses in check has created a warm controversy which is shared by the public. The Senator protests against the demands of bureaucracy, and is supported in some comments, but it is also pointed out that this Congressional critic has shared in the demands for expenditures, and there is much dispute as to the primary responsibility.

"A bureau once established is always thereafter with us," complains the CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE. "It cannot be gotten rid of. If it is held to nominal expenditures, the public has indeed won a victory. But wrong as they are, they will continue to grow unless this 'angry public opinion,' forecast by the Senator, grows and maintains itself until it is felt." The PORT HURON TIMES HERALD holds, that, "as Senator Borah has suggested, it is likely to go on until the 123,000,000 people of the United States get mad about it."

"The popular indignation which Mr. Borah forsees will rise against a great Federal bureaucracy," according to the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, "will not, in our opinion, rise against the beneficent works of the Government, which not only supplement the work of the states but oftentimes supply their omissions. The true case, and the one against which the people are already rising, is against those unnecessary excrescences of government which often invade the states but accomplish nothing. Mr. Borah is himself an ardent supporter of the most flagrant of these, the prohibition bureau. The prohibition bureau is a heavy contributor to those excessive costs which he ascribes to executive departments."

"Senator Aldrich long ago predicted," recalls the LEXINGTON LEADER, "that he could save the government $10,000,000 a year, which seems a small sum now, if the departments could be put upon a strictly business basis. No doubt many hundreds of millions could be saved today if reorganizatiton could be effected. This is the very thing Mr. Hoover has been working on for years, while he was secretary of commerce and since he became President. He has accomplished more than any of his predecessors in this direction. But has has been able to make progress only within narrow limits because congress has failed repeatedly to give him the necessary authority."

The Senator's statement that "the government has no right to exact from its taxpayers one dollar beyond the amount necessary to run the government wisely and economically expended," is quoted by the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, with the comment: "That is one principle of government that all too much has been disregarded in this country, not only by the federal government, but by many if not all of the states. Instead of holding down expenditures to essentials and raising only the amount of revenue required to defray the necessary expenses of government, the tendency has been increasingly to raise appropriations in general as high as possible and to make new appropriations that are not always for purposes that may fairly be classed as essential."

"It is high time that the taxpayers rebel against Federal support for bureaucracy assuming to usurp the functions of the States," declares the INDIANAPOLIS STAR, with recognition, however, of the fact that "Congress cannot escape blame," and the further suggestion that "at the very time Senator Borah was demanding an abatement of bureaucratic spending, a conference at Washington was censuring Congress for failure to approve sufficient financial support in a national health program." That paper, nevertheless, concedes that "the government and every right-thinking citizen is intensely interested in a broad program of public health." The LITTLE ROCK DEMOCRAT adds that "our system of government-by-bureaus grows steadily for two reasons—because of the ever-increasing demand of the States that they be given equal opportunity to dig into the public treasury, and because politicians know that bigger, better and more bureaus mean bigger and better political control."

The expense involved in the establishment of commissions desired by the President is emphasized by the ROANOKE TIMES and the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, but the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN remarks: "Even barring Senator Borah's curious assumption that there are other kinds of governments than bureaucratic governments—that a government has ever existed which was not bureaucratic to the core—this outburst will be read with surprise by those who have followed the career of this loudest but tamest of all the Progressives. For Borah is perhaps the greatest believer in governmental miracles that the Senate has ever entertained; and it is a hoary truth that the chief result of every governmental miracle is to create more jobs for bureaucrats. Produce a fancy scheme for saving the nation, at whatever cost in money and new jobholders, and you will find Borah the first to jump to his feet and cry 'Aye!'"

"It seems," suggests the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, "that Senator Borah, together with all other senators and representatives, is only a sort of involuntary rubber stamp. The public sympathy will go out to Senator Borah. He does not mention it, but doubtless the only thing to be done, to protect Congress from the ravages of the department and bureau heads, is to adopt a constitutional amendment prohibiting any department or executive officer from either asking or opposing any appropriation, and leaving Congress to go on voting bonuses at its own sweet will."

Charging that the Senator "gets off on a tangent," the YAKIMA

OLD, OLD PHILOSOPHY

Not since present day fathers burned the midnight oil in devouring the writings of Nick Carter have modern boys an opportunity of reading more lively fiction than the recent novels of Earl Derr Bigger's in which the adventures of Chan the Chinese detective are portrayed. ON MODESTY

You modesty is a matter of pride with you.

Thus, a virtue becomes a vanity—you are proud of your modesty as some persons are proud of their good looks, their family, their position in society or their popularity among friends.

You have little use for vain persons and like to say so.

You often express yourself as not permitting yourself to display pleasure which some folk seem to gain from the good opinion they have of themselves.

No, you are too modest for that, yet, what is it, if not satisfaction, that you gain when you constantly set forth your modesty."

Modesty when supported by real merit seeks no credit.

In which case modesty has some real value.

But your kind of modesty may be the result of your not having personality enough to present your own good points advantageously, you can't sell yourself to others.

If you were sure of yourself in the presence of others would you be as modest, as you proclaim yourself to be?

Most people are modest when they don't know how to be otherwise.

Very often these same persons are really suffering for appreciation expressed by others and dare not say so and that is not real modesty.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

New Castle was instituted as a borough March 25, 1825. The first burgess was Robert McCinahy, the second John Frazier and the third Joseph Justice. Records from 1825 to 1852 were lost or destroyed and as a result there is little knowledge of who was burgess at different times throughout that period,

From what some sources of information it is learned that some of the early burgesses were as follows: 1836, Joshua Logan; 1843, William Mitchell; 1848, Thomas Sloan; 1852, J. R. Emery; 1853, Joseph Kissick; 1854, William Moore; 1855, Thomas Pearson; 1856, Stillman Briggs; 1857-1858, Alexander Ross; 1859, A. Lewis; 1860, William Moore; 1861, Nathan Morrill; 1862, William Moore; 1863-1864, Nathan Morrill; 1865, David Craig; 1866, Nathan Morrill; 1867-1868, J. W. Reynolds.

Tomorrow:—Some things that happened here in 1861.

Prosecutor Starts Trumbull County Clean-up Drive

WARREN, O., May 13.—Trumbull county's ax-swinging prosecutor, George H. Birrell, who smashed up three Warren bars and early yesterday wrecked one just outside the city limits, has declared war on a new front, raiding a magazine shop at Leavittsburg, near here. He arrested Eddie Gadd, proprietor, on a charge of selling lottery tickets.

Gadd pleaded guilty late yesterday and was fined $100 and costs by Probate Judge Sydney Smith.

"I did not know that lottery tickets and baseball pools were sold in the smaller places of the county, but thought they were mainly confined to Warren, Niles and Girard," Birrell said.

"I find they are widespread. We'll break that up, too, and I'm not through smashing bars.

"I have a specially designed combination sledge and ax that works fine on nice, shiny bars."

Bugle, Drum Corps Holds Practices For Memorial Day

Corp. Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held its initial practice of the season in the armory of Troop F last evening when the members went through a long repertoire of martial airs in preparation for Memorial Day.

A meeting will be held by the corps on Friday at 7:30 p. m. daylight time. It will be attended by old members and newcomers who wish to try out for the corps.

Legion Of Honor To Meet Tonight

Members of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory will hold their regular meeting in the Cathedral this evening.

Several very important matters will come up for discussion at this time and all members are urged to be present. The part the Legion of Honor will take in the coming reunion will be discussed and plans will be made for this event.

The dance committee will render a report on the dance to be held in the near future.

LOCKE CHOSEN IN MONACA SCHOOLS

MONACA, Pa., May 13.—David C. Locke, Monaca, former superintendent of Beaver county public schools, was elected supervising principal of Monaca schools for three years, to succeed Lloyd C. Frech, whose resignation is effective at the close of the school year. Mr. Locke is a former resident of Lawrence county, having been reared near Harlansburg.

Daily Digest

DAILY REPUBLIC feels that, although "angry public opinion may strike wildly and hit the wrong persons, almost without exception, whoever may be hit is to some extent responsible, and may profit by a public chastisement." That paper avers as to responsibility: "The Senator's statement that during the past 10 years congress has cut the president's budget by $414,000,000 isn't even a half truth; it might be ten per cent true because for every dollar which congress takes off the budget just to show how economical it is, it adds ten to show the members are helping the needy voters who hold the balance of power. Even he doesn't claim that the total sum appropriated by congress is less than recommended by the executive branch; it is always higher."

The SCHENECTADY GAZETTE holds that "the Senator himself is not always so careful about holding down expenditures," and that "while helping the Executive departments to cut down their expenses, he can perform an equally valuable service in leading his own extravagant body, Congress, into better ways." The AKRON BEACON JOURNAL concludes: "While we immensely enjoy the truthful thrusts of the Idaho senator, one wonders if the taxpayers could have found much relief in any of his remedies. If we remember correctly, he was in favor of government operation of Muscle Shoals, he voted for the Boulder Dam squander, and he got hot with the President for not spending more and not less for drought relief. He was for the Farm Board that has eaten up a half billion and produces nothing except a new crop of special beneficiaries who are clamoring to get to the treasury."

KEEP KISSABLE

. . . WITH OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE . . . as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette . . . free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

for People Looking for Wholesome Dainties

Sweets must be improved—denatured foods are dwarfing us. WHAT SHALL WE EAT? Honey is a natural sweet; does not affect the kidneys—it is an energy food but less than other sweets. 7 ozs. honey equals 1 quart of milk, 10 eggs, 12 ounces steak or 5 oranges. The chief inspector of apiaries of Indiana states honey is not fattening, contains iron magnesia and calcium, a body-building food, and does not produce flabby flesh.

A Harmless Prescription, but How it Moves the bowels!

DON'T you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

Although still unable to walk, Mr. Hanna's condition is much improved and he is glad to be back home again. For the present he is staying at the home of his brother, William Hanna, of Englewood.

ROCK GARDENS
Written for Central Press
By DR. KARL F. KELLERMAN
Bureau of Plant Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture

A rock garden, provided it is suitable and fits in with the general garden scheme, may solve the problem of a troublesome slope that is hard to keep in grass, advise horticultrists of the Bureau of Plant Industry. Rock gardens, though, cannot be just set down anywhere without regard for the other features of the landscaping scheme.

Natural rock gardens—spots where plants are growing wild amidst rocks—should be studied for a natural arrangement of rock. Native stones are preferable, of course, in the home made rock garden. The effect of nature is increased, if their weather-beaten surfaces are exposed.

On such an incline, the drainage problem usually is to keep water from running off. If so, the rocks should be placed so that their surfaces throw water into the bank rather than away from it.

The rocks should form pockets for good soil. And if the soil already on the slope is poor, it can be replaced with good garden soil.

Midsummer is a good time to construct a rock garden. It will be ready for fall planting. Nursery catalogues usually offer suggestions as to plants for rock gardens. By consulting them the gardener can select the plants that suit his fancy. He should not forget, though, that a rock garden offers a good place to raise native plants successfully.

EAST BROOK

MOTHER'S DAY

The Eastbrook Methodist church was filled Sunday evening for the presentation of a splendid Mother's Day program, under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Cook and Mrs. Marie Stunkard.

The church was attractive with its decorations of spring flowers and palms and a playlet by the members of the Rover class added interest to the songs, recitations and readings of the different participants.

Concluding the playlet, Harold McConahy presented the oldest and youngest mothers with gifts and it was a coincidence that the oldest mother was Mrs. John W. Pontius and the youngest was her granddaughter, Mrs. John Pontius. The gifts were tied with red, white and blue ribbons, to which were attached corsages.

TRUE BLUE CLASS

The members of the True Blue Class of the Eastbrook Methodist church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Paul Stunkard with Mrs. John Pontius, president, in charge of the business session. Games and music featured the social hour and a delicious lunch was served.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Section 3 of the W. M. S. of the Eastbrook Methodist church will meet Wednesday all day in the home of Mrs. Fred Moser, Eastbrook road.

CHOIR PRACTICE

The choir of the Eastbrook Methodist church will meet Wednesday at 7:30 E. S. T. in the church for rehearsal.

DEBATE PLANNED

Wednesday, May 20, an interesting evening has been planned by the Eastbrook Methodist church when a debate: "Do Red Haired Women Make the Best Wives" will be discussed by Rev. Thomas Pollard and Claire Cook on the affirmative and Orville Kerr and Ezra Pontius on the negative.

English Woman Speaks Before Assemblage Of Girl Scout Executives

Second Day Of Convention Concluded With Banquet At Castleton Hotel

Miss Elizabeth Clark Speaks On "Story Telling," Two Hundred Attend

"Story Telling" was the unique subject of an after-dinner address given last night in The Castleton ball room before a crowd of Girl Scout directors, leaders and council members who are in New Castle for the 12th annual regional conference.

Miss Elizabeth Clark, of England, who came to United States for the purpose of addressing Girl Scout executives at several regional conventions, was the speaker and she succeeded in making last night's meeting one of the most enjoyable of the three day convention. Miss Clark has won fame in Europe for her great ability as a story teller and her lectures on the subject.

Tells of Experiences

The speaker began Tuesday evening by telling of her early experiences in story telling—of how she decided to make it her life work and of how utterly ridiculous and useless such work semed to her acquaintances, of how keenly interested in the subject she was and of the many hours spent midst a flock of village children and of the story hours in the London play center.

"I found that boys, young boys, who are active, nervous, naughty and who could not and would not sit still, are the very best listeners to a fairy tale.

Those kind of lads were sent around to me, for the gymnasium helpers would have none of them, and the reading rooms would not accommodate boys who were so loud and restless.

But the stories had a soothing effect. By that I don't mean they were morally improved. They got peace," Miss Clark explained, "And their high strung nerves gave away to the fairy tales. They gave up to the story. It gave them laughter and that 'unity of spirit which is a bond of peace.' "

Gives Illustrations

Included in Miss Clark's address were a group of three or four fairy tales, which she used to illustrate how interesting stories may be made. She told of the "Old Woman and the Apple Dumpling" and kept the grown-up audience as keenly interested as any group of bad boys. It was all about a little old woman who was making an apple dumpling and had everything but an apple. Her adventures down the road in search for an apple and the final victory, all because she believed that 'if you go fast enough and far enough you will surely find an apple for an apple dumpling" was told in a style original with Miss Clark.

Stories for children must not be too long—10 or 15 minutes, is the limit, plenty must happen to the characters in the story, the active plot must be clearly told with short desciptions and short conversations, and above all the teller must be greatly interested in the tale, are rules given by the noted story teller.

Miss Clark also told the story of a turnip which grew so large that it took an entire family and a cat and mouse to pull it out of the ground. Another story was of a beautiful princess who yawned so incessantly it was pitiful.. Each of the tales ended very happily, and Miss Clark's audience of 150 Girl Scout executives and friends were delighted with the evening.

Dinner at 7:30

The dinner had been served at 7:30 with tables arranged for nine different group of Scout workers—commissioners, community committees, training course committees, finance committees, badges and awards, committees, camp committees, publicity, leaders' assiciations, lone troop committees.

At each table, one of the foremost delegates were seated— including Miss Josephine Schain, national director of Girl Scouts, Mrs. V. Hope Kellam, Norfolk, Va., Miss Ray Mitchell, director of the Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia Girl Scouts Mrs. Frederick Brooks, Washington, D. C., Miss Martha Seiler, chairman of the regional badges and awards committee, Miss Katy Lee Johnston, of New York City, Mrs. B. F. Cheatham, chairman of the regional camp committee, Miss Jeanne Christy, regional camp advisor, Miss Dorothy Green, director, Washington, D. C., Miss Isabel Hummel, assistant director of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Edward Conrad, chairman of the regional lone troop committee, Mrs. Charles Reutlinger, Harrisburg, Pa.

Compliments Local Leaders

Preceding Miss Elizabeth Clark's speech, Mrs. Stuart McGuire, chairman of the region gave a brief opening address and said that "never before since I have been connected with Girl Scout work have I ever attended a convention where the arrangements were more beautifully done, and I want to thank especially Miss Elizeth Reis, New Castle's commissioner and Miss Nance Pugh New Castle's director."

This lovely banquet at The Castleton concluded the second day of the annual convention. The morning and afternoon sessions of Tuesday had taken place in the New Castle Field Club, and the business matters discussed at those sessions included—leader's training, summer camping, report and discussion of the national quota, led by Mrs. Frederick Brooke, national field chairman, discussion of troop committees by Miss Adelaide Werner, regional director.

A most enjoyable event of Tuesday afternoon was the meeting for tea at the home of Mrs. J. C. McCready, New Wilmington, Pa. The trip was made by automobile, directly from the Field Club to the McCready home which Mrs. McCready had most graciously offered for use.

Nearly 150 Enjoy Mother-Daughter Affair At Church

First U. P. Banquet Room Scene For Gay Festivities Last Night

Mothers' and Daughters' Night was fittingly observed last night at the First United Presbyterian church, Clenmore boulevard, with almost 150 mothers and daughters of the congregation present to share the elaborate dinner and entertainment program.

After a delicious menu had been served by members of the Rebecca chapter of the church, around the tables beautifully decorated with bouquets of tulips and other spring flowers and with novel pink and green tapers creating a contract, the speaking program opened with Mrs. Margaret Hanna, toastmistress in charge.

Mrs. Hanna welcomed the guests briefly and told them she deems a pleasure to gather every year for such a banquet. Mrs. Helen Ruby followed her with a toast to the mothers, and the response for the mothers was given by Mrs. Emma K. Cooperider.

Mrs. Muryl Boyd delighted the audience with a vocal solo.

Miss Betty Campbell, daughter of United Presbyterian missionaries to India, and herself on furlough from India for a short time for educational purposes, was the chief speaker. She spoke to the mothers and daughters on life and conditions in that foreign land.

Miss Kathryn Newbury also contributed a piano solo, after which pep singing directed by Mrs. Harvey Mollenkopf kept the crowd enthused. Miss Helen Ewing accompanied on the piano.

The dinner, while served by the Rebecca chapter, was sponsored by the Dorcas Circle, with Miss Helen McConahy and Miss Sara Patterson heading the committee in charge.

Radio Announcer To Fight For Fortune

Pittsburgh Radio Announcer Also Russian Count, Seeks Half-Million

Nearest Of Kin Of Late Prince A. N. Kuropatkin Of Russia, Present Claims

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 13.—An overtone of excusable excitement tinged the usually calm resonance of Station KQV's announcer today as the announcer, who is also a Russian Count, made plans to claim a half million dollar fortune to which he believes he is heir apparent.

Count John J. Kuropatkin Chapel, who has broadcast programs from the local station for the past eight months, is leaving for New York on Sunday. On Monday, his grand-uncle, Prince A. N. Kuropatkin, former Russian General and Minister of War in 1898, will be declared officially dead. Prince Kuropatkin died in exile in Biarritz, France, in 1925.

Will Inherit Estate

The titled announcer believes that he and his mother, Countess Josephine, now Mrs. Frank Keller of Boston, and his two sisters, Jane and Ann, are the nearest of kin and will automatically inherit the $500,000 estate if no prior claims are filed in the next six months.

The youthful Count—he is only 26—declared the money would not affect his mode of living and stated his intention of remaining a citizen of the United States.

"I have given up all hope of recovering the family estates in Russia," he explained. "Sherhurina Castle, Neur Pskow, was confiscated by the Soviet Government and is now a department for military police records."

Becomes Announcer

Count Chapel and his mother and sisters came to this country in 1912 upon the advice of General, Kuropatkin. The latter's memoirs disclose he foresaw the Russian upheaval as early as 1904.

The young Count joined the regular army in 1919 and went to West Point where he flunked in mathematics. He then attended the University of Charlottesville in West Virginia and since has been a radio announcer at WCAH and WMAN in Columbus, O., and at KQV.

Erie Man's Death Is Investigated

Suicide Theory Exploded By Pathologist Who Discovers Fractured Skull

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., May 13.—Police today continued their search for the suspected slayer of Norman Fratus, a 33-year-old World war veteran, whose body, with a bullet hole through the head, was found last Sunday at Nicholson Heights, near Kearsarge.

Police, who first believed Fratus had committed suicide, reopened their investigation in the case when it was discovered that the victim had suffered a fracture at the base of the skull probably before his death. Dr. E. L. Armstrong, a pathologist, who conducted the post-mortem examination, said the fracture in the skull could not have resulted from the course of the bullet found in the head.

Efforts of authorities today centered in their attempts to discover the identity of a man who accompanied Fratus last Saturday when he purchased the revolver and bullets which were used in the fatal shooting.

Steel Workers Out On Strike

Workers Of Mansfield, Ohio, Empire Steel Corporation Protest Wage Cuts

HOPE TO EFFECT SPEEDY AGREEMENT

(International News Service)

MANSFIELD O., May 13—Spokesmen for striking workers of the Mansfield plant of the Empire Steel Corporation today said that one thousand steel workers laid down their tools here in protest to an "unfair" wage cut instituted by company officials.

Company officials refused to verify the number of men who were called out in the strike. The walkout came as a complete surprise, they said. The officials declined to make any statements pending a formal notice of demands by the striking workers.

A striker's organization was being formed by the workers through which spokesmen announced the employes would seek a "reasonable" wage. It was reported by some of the strikers that several wage cuts had been instituted in various departments of the steel company during the past several weks. Notice of an additional 5 per cent cut which took effect yesterday was the action which precipitated the strike, they said.

One of the officials at the plant said an early settlement of the strike would in all probability be affected.

"We will consider their demands and strive to reach a decision that will be fair to all concerened," he promised."

NEW BUICK EIGHTS

. . . an Owner Service Policy making generous provision for owner satisfaction

Only a Buick Dealer can give Buick Service

The faith of men and women in the Buick car becomes even more deeply rooted when they realize how generously Buick provides for owner satisfaction.

When you buy a new Buick Eight, your dealer hands you a written Owner Service Policy. It specifies such advantages as free replacement of parts, with no charge for labor, under the terms of a very liberal warranty —and free inspection and adjustment after 500 miles and after 1500 miles.

You may change your residence, or tour anywhere in the U. S. or Canada, and still share these benefits through the nearest Buick dealer.

This policy is not only your guarantee of satisfaction, but also an assurance of Buick's basic excellence. The new Buick Eight is, in fact, so sound and good that it wins more than 50 out of every 100 sales of the 14 eights in its price class.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing motor car values.

S. OF D. GIRLS ENJOY PROGRAM

The S. of D. Girls of the Central Presbyterian church enjoyed a unique program Tuesday evening when an old fashioned "fashion play" was given by the members.

Mrs. Ethel McGuire was leader for the evening and the foreign missionary subject was discussed by Mrs. Rebecca Lapish while the national subject was discussed by Mrs. Dorothy Gaston. Mrs. Sylvia Sturtevant gave a report of the Presbyterial meeting at Pulaski.

There were songs and declamations made by these women, which hearkened back to the days of long ago, and as each appeared in what was the height of fashion 50 to 100 years ago, one could hardly imagine such styles had existed. Mrs. Marie Brenneman presided at the piano and was stiff and dignified in her stayed dress.

Mrs. Gertrude Festoso sang "Memories" and after the singing she presented Mrs. Oscar Rhodes, teacher of the girls, with a pot of pansies, in honor of Mothers' Day.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bertha Montgomery, Mrs. Sylvia Sturtevant, Mrs. Pearl McNees, Mrs. Violet Slack and Mrs. Claire Himebaugh.

JAMES GARFIELD DAVY GIVES FINE LECTURE

A representative audience witnessed one of New Castle's rarest treats and one of unusual interest Tuesday evening in Carnegie Auditorium, when James A. Garfield Davy, noted lecturer on geographical subjects, and the possessor of a captivating personality, gave an illustrated talk on "A Pilgrimage To God's First Temple."

He took his guests on a trip of fifty-thousand miles starting from California, going to the Hawaiian Islands, from there to Asia, over to Africa, and into Egypt, etc., telling of the different kinds of trees and their uses, dwelling on the rubber and octopus trees principally. He stated that there was no equal comparison in the size of trees whatsoever. Also, he told of the different peoples, their customs, and showed pictures of their surroundings.

The first part of his lecture was humorous, and the way in which he went about in explaining the details, made the guests feel that they were actually being transported from one place to another, thus holding their closest attention with little effort.

In his collection of three-hundred pictures, he displayed very clear scenes, and in their own vivid and striking colors, making the whole affair seem more real. Some of these views taken where no white man has ever been, were indeed breath-taking, and proved interesting as well as educational.

This was given under the auspices of the local Garden Club.

Escaped Inmate Is Suspected In Murder On Coast

Ashur Williams, 45, Escaped Ohio Insane Inmate, Is Questioned

IS BEING HELD ON GIRL CHARGE

Officials Working Feverishly To Untangle Recent Hideous Murders

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May -3.—Ashur Williams, 45, who escaped from an Ohio insane asylum nine years ago, according to police, was to be questioned here today as a suspect in the murder of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks.

San Diego police charged he was in the vicinity of the Brooks home the day of the killing. Captain Harry Hickok of the state identification bureau characterized him as the "most likely" suspect yet arrested.

Williams was taken into custody last Friday at his shack 18 miles east of San Diego by Los Angeles police who charged him with mistreating a 4½-year-old girl.

Meantime, detectives seeking to solve the Brooks mystery were checking over the movements of Richard Ward, 56, escaped convict, who was arrested Sunday as a suspect in the case.

In another recent murder investigation, Moss E. Garrison, a railroad clerk, today prepared for trial on a charge that he murdered his sweetheart, Hazel Bradshaw, 23. He was arraigned yesterday.

A shocked announcer cut off General Butler's radio speech, but no matter. Some of his friends will tell it.

School Girls Given First-Hand Knowledge Of Various Types Of Work

The education committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club of New Castle has taken up the project of guidance work for girls in cooperation with the junior high schools of the city. The plan as it is working now, consists of securing speakers in various businesses and professions to speak to the junior high school girls. The list of vocations represented was made up by consulting with guidance workers in the schools as to what types of work the girls wish to know about. In this way the girls are given first hand knowledge of the possibilities and disadvantages of various types of work and how to best prepare to enter any one of these fields of activity.

On April 27, Miss Andrews, personal director of a large department store in Youngstown, presented to the girls the field of salesmanship and how best to prepare to enter the many types of store work.

On April 28, Miss Alisan Leslie, Secretary to Dr. C. C. Green, talked to the girls in Ben Franklin and George Washington junior high schools on secretarial work and on May 6 Miss Charlotte Diehl, assistant directress of student nurses at the Jamison Memorial hospital, presented to the girls of both schools the field of nursing. Miss Diehl tried to bring to the girls the difficulties in the nursing field as well as the spectacular aspects which are so often stressed. She also gave the girls valuable advice as to how to plan their high school course to fit into the nurse's training course if they plan to enter that field.

Two more talks are planned—one in institutional home economies, and one in general office work.

At the close of each lecture an opportunity is given for any girls especially interested to have a conference with the speaker.

Sunnyside Residents Home After Five Months In West; Other News Of Interest

Mrs. Agnes Clark and daughter, Miss Helen, and son, H. O. Clark, of Sunnyside, who returned on Monday afternoon from California, report having a most delightful time.

Mrs. Clark and Helen spent five months in the sunny Pacific coast country, having left here in the middle of January this year. Mr. Clark joined them in Los Angeles a month ago and they returned together Monday.

While in Hollywood they were the guests of Mrs. F. M. Stanley, a former New Castle resident.

One of the onlooked for experiences Mrs. Clark and her son and daughter had was to feel the tremore of an earthquake. The city tower at Los Angeles was reported to have swayed 14 inches.

It was a very enjoyable trip, and the weather was excellent throughout.

Ample Security for Every Dollar and Convenient Withdrawable Privilege

It has been decided to offer investors a limited amount of the stock of this old, conservatively managed Building and Loan Association. The stock is $100 per share and pays 5% interest. The safety is comparable to that of the high class real estate First mortgage, plus the large surplus and resources of this Association which for 39 years has never failed to have interest checks in the mail on the appointed day. Another great advantage is the withdrawal privilege which enables you to have your money back at any time on 30 days' notice.

Mail in your check for $100 or multiple thereof up to $6000. Not more than $6000 sold to any one person. Be sure to write your name and address plainly.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

Central Press

NEW YORK, May 13.—In his "Nemesis of American Business," MacMillan, two dollars, Stuart Chase devotes a chapter to New York under the caption "Megalopolis."

Approaching Manhattan he "begins to feel a strange uneasiness like a slight attack of seasickness." Leaving it, he, "suddenly grows more cheerful."

He is not a city hater in cheesecloth and sandals. The thoughts which men generate in cities are as important to him, he says, as bread.

In an effort to come to closer terms with his pleasurable and painful reactions, where New York is concerned, he lists the following generalizations:

BOUQUETS FOR GOTHAM.

Positive Reactions—pleasurable:

The city from the East River at sunset.

Brooklyn Bridge.

Cube masses against blue sky.

Corrugated ridges of set-backs—say at 34th street.

Fifth avenue below 14th street—where fine old houses and a ghost of dignity remain.

The interior of the Graybar Building; many of the newer building interiors.

Inside block gardens—say, Mark Van Doren's.

The view of the city from a high roof garden, particularly at night; towers indirectly illuminated.

Bars of sunlight under the elevated railroad.

The interior of the Grand Central Station.

The Bronx River Parkway.

Girls on Fifth avenue below 42nd street (one out of six is lovely.)

Building excavations, with a muzzling steam shovel.

The inside of power houses.

The American Wing in the Metropolitan Museum.

Morningside Heights and Riverside Drive, looking across the Palisades.

The new Hudson River bridge.

Here and there a shop window with modern decorations.

The oaths of taxicab drivers.

A Stadium concert on a Summer night.

AND BRICKBATS.

Negative Reactions—painful.

Jammed traffic.

Fire engine sirens, motor car horns, the cacophony of riveting, loud speakers, steamboat whistles (at night), most people's voices, the rasp of elevator doors, the roar of traffic in general, and that of the elevated in particular.

All trucks (probably because I saw a woman killed by one on Seventh avenue.)

The insignificance of the sun and moon.

A feeling akin to being at the bottom of a well.

Central Park (it reminds me of a warmed-over meal.)

The lower East Side with its dreadful old-law tenements.

Park avenue and its apartment houses like so many packing cases.

The expression on the faces of most people.

The smell of incompletely burned gasoline, of barber shops, of Grand street, of the garbage mountains in Queens, with the locomotives on top of it, of Chinatown, of the subway, of soda fountains.

Movie palaces with one or two exceptions.

Delicatessen stores.

The outside of power houses.

The gentlemen with no immediate purpose in life around Times Square. . . . Filling stations. . . . Trees, probably because I love trees. . . . Dust, dirst and cinders. . . . Most restaurants, particularly cafeterias. (In Paris the reaction is mainly pleasurable. Why the difference? . . . The crush of skyscrapers around the Grand Central Station—the big bullies. . . . The ripping open of streets, like a public operation. . . .

Sign boards and car signs.

All ttravel by subway ,tunnel and street car.

The noon-hour crowd around the establishments manufacturing garments.

City r use on Long Beach—even on Fire Island, forty miles away.

"These lists," says Mr. Chase, "give, I fear, a shattering insight into the shortcomings of the compiler's character, but they are, at least ,honest."

Robbers visiting a store in Pawtucket took away not only the proprietor's cash but his trousers as well. Which is more drastic treatment than he would have received at home.—The Lowell Evening-Leader.

Dr. MacCartney At Westfield

Famous Pittsburgh Clergyman Will Address The Westfield Community Friday

FORMER MODERATOR OF ENTIRE CHURCH

Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, announces with great pleasure the coming of Dr. Clarence E. MacCartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, to this community on Friday evening.

The coming of Dr. MacCartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, is attracting wide attention. A large audience will no doubt be present to greet him and to hear his timely message on "A Witnessing Church". This will be a popular meeting and a hearty invitation is extended to the entire community.

Dr. MacCartney, who is a brother of Dr. A. J. MacCartney, former pastor of Westfield, has not preached at Westfield for many years. He is greatly interested in the historical places of Pennsylvania and he is especially interested in the old country churches which have contributed so much to the communities in which they are located. Westfield, being founded in 1803, is one of these historic churches that has been witnessing through the years.

Dr. MacCartney is an eloquent preacher, a widely read author and a minister of unusual influence. He was elected moderator of the General Assembly a few years ago, and was one of the youngest men ever elected to that high office.

Ten of Dr. McCartney's elders, including Robert Gibson of the Presbyterian Book Store, are accompanying him on this tour into Lawrence county.

The meeting will begin promptly at eight, eastern standard time, Friday, May 15.

Germany Very Much Interested In Plane That Sets New London-Berlin Record

(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 13.—German aviation experts flocked to the Tempelhof airport today to inspect Captain Frank M. Hawks' speed plane, which in a flight from London proved itself faster than a telegram.

Hawks covered the distance from Croydon aerodrome to Tempelhof in two hours and 57 minutes, arriving some time before a telegram announcing his departure came through over the wires from London. Averaging 204 miles an hour, Hawks easily broke all existing records for the journey.

Following inspection of his speedy plane by aviation experts, Captain Hawks planned to leave tomorrow for Stockholm to attend the opening of the Internation Aviation Exhibition.

Expect High Mark In Pheasant Eggs

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Pheasant eggs are being laid at a high rate at the state game farms, the number so far produced exceeding 10,000. At this rate the 60,000 to 70,000 eggs expected by the commission will be produced, officers said. It is planned to furnish sportsmen and interested farmers with about 50,000 eggs and game refuge keepers with about 12,000. Some eggs will be hatched at the farms. Over 600 wild turkey eggs have been produced at the turkey farm. At this farm it is hoped to secure about 2500 eggs this season.

Due to the tendency of the female turkey to secret her nest, it is very difficult for the game farmer to locate them in many instances.

Inasmuch as it is becoming more difficult each year to secure bob-white quail in the open market, the game commission may experiment with the propagation of these birds on a small scale. Weather conditions in the southwest have made it almost impossible for shippers to secure any birds at all.

Well, Russia eventually will make all men equal if she keps on shooting those who rise a little above the average.

A Nobel prize will be worth $46,420 this year, which should enable the winners to endure a lot of ridicule.

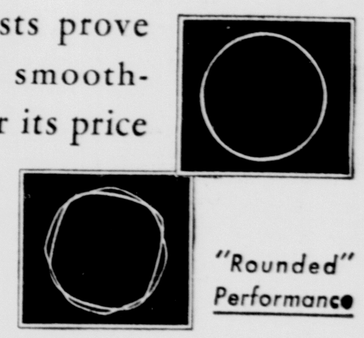
Amazing Torsiographic tests prove that The Dictator's satin smoothness has no equal at or near its price



YOUR own "car sense" will tell you in a mile of travel that here is power of extraordinary smoothness. And the unerring Torsiograph record will bear out your judgment.

The Dictator's 9-bearing crankshaft is balanced, not only statically but dynamically, on machines that are marvels of precision. A vibration damper of the most effective design is used. Costlier dual carburetion and manifolding, by feeding exactly proportional amounts of fuel to each cylinder, avoid "starving" of end cylinders and assure smooth and even power impulses.

Efficient carburetor silencing, plus Studebaker's full power exhaust muffling (which eliminates practically all back pressure) results in absolute quiet such as characterizes the most costly cars.

And this background of luxurious smoothness throws into bold relief the most brilliant of all The Dictator's advantages—Free Wheeling. Borne on the wings of momentum, you glide in silence, able to shift easily, quietly and without touching the clutch, saving 15% to 20% on gas and oil.

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double the Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

Eleven Veterans Attend Memorial

Daughters Of Union Veterans Entertain Aged Soldiers At Splendid Dinner

C. W. Herman Hess Gives Memorial Address Monday Evening In City Building

The memorial dinner given Tuesday evening in the City Building by the Daughters of Union Veterans was attended by eleven veterans of the Civil War. Two wives and one widow were also in attendance.

Those who were able to get to this splendid gathering were D. W. Clark Mt. Jackson, commander of the local Post: C. B. Hamilton, adjutant of the Post, A. R. Kerr, A. R. Houston, A. H. Bible, James Hasson, Leonard Reid, Harry Cooper, Thos. D. Wilson, Edward Welty and Jas. Elder. The wives were Mrs. A. R. Kerr and Mrs. Edward Welty and the veteran's widow was Mrs. J. A. McConnell.

After the group had all assembled they marched to the dining room, where two long tables had been arranged, spring flowers were used as centerpieces and tall red, white and blue tapers were used down the tables, set on streamers of patriotic colors.

Edward Welty asked the divine blessing and after singing "Blest Be the Tie" a most delicious menu was served by the Daughters.

Memorial Service

At the conclusion of dinner all assembled again in the lodge room and Mrs. Maude Fisher, president of the organization, took the chair and conducted the memorial service for the departed sisters and comrades of the tent. This was most impressive as the guards marched solemnly in each bearing a white flower on her arm, which was placed on the altar as Mrs. Fisher read the names of the departed, in whose memeory this service was held: Sisters Griffith, Douglass, Dewberry, Wagner, Clark, Shumway, Fray and Boyd: and Comrades Neidler, Bryson, Jones, Fisher, Brinton, Davis and Fenton. The guards then formed a cross at the altar and the audience sang "Rock of Ages."

Mrs. A. R. Kerr offered the prayer of memorial and Mrs. Blanche Smith and her daughter, Mrs. Vera MacKenzie, sang a beautiful duet.

Herman Hess Speaks

Mrs. Fisher then introduced C. W. Herman Hess, who most eloquently addressed a beautiful memorial tribute to the veterans and assembled friends.

He based his theme on "I Have Fought a Good Fight, I Have Finished My Course, I Have Kept Faith" and this he applied to those who have gone on before: lauding the dead, who died in battle, those who have since passed on and those few whose years are short here upon the earth.

Mr. Hess said there never was a war comparable to that of the Civil War, wherein brother fought against brother and father against son, and when he passed through a cemetery, where the graves of these brave men are marked, it is with a feeling of great admiration that he bows before them.

"Those who have gone on fought a good fight," he further stated, "those who are left have but a few years until they have finished their course and it is with great pleasure that I tonight address this memorial service, not alone to the dead, but to the living, for by honoring the dead we honor the living." He went on to say that never can we hold this great country of ours together unless we continue, even after the few remaining veterans go to their reward, to conduct these splendid Memorial services to those who upheld the standards of Old Glory.

"How little it is to do" he went on "to meet each year in these services, and we can keep the faith by carrying on what our fathers gave their life blood for, then we will know we have not lived in vain."

At the close of Mr. Hess' address the audience arose and pledged allegiance to the flag, thus bringing another year's memorial tribute to the soldier dead to a close.

Judges Pick Winners From 160 Original Songs Of Students

Fourteen grade and junior high school choruses wil vie for honors at the songfest to be held in the Ben Franklin junior high school Thursday evening in the city schools' celebration of National Music Week.

Directors of the choruses were announced today by Miss Gladys Rich.

Last preparations for the musical celebration here have been completed by Miss Rich, director of the vocal music department, and the music instructors of the different schools.

Meeting in a body last evening at the home of Mrs. William Caldwell, New Wilmington road, the Music club of this city selected winners of the original song-writing contest from 160 manuscripts submitted by the children of the grade and junior high schools. Announcement of results in this contest, conducted in conjunction with the chorus competitions practices that have been held during the past few weeks, will be made by Mrs. Caldwell from the stage of Franklin high tomorrow evening.

National Music Week.

The school celebration here as a part of National Music Week will consist of two contests, the original song-writing contest and the chorus competitions. A chorus from each of the elementary schools will take part in the song-singing competition and judges have been appointed to select the best primary and the best intermediate chorus appearing on the program.

In judging the song compositions last night the judges read the work of students of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. They selected the best songs of each grade and also an honorable mention from each grade. They also selected the best song written for each of 29 art pictures about which the songs were written. Miss Emilie H. Soloman, director of art, has provided the school music teachers and the judges with the art pictures about which the children of the different grades have written a little verse of poetry and set it to music.

Over 400 children are expected to participate in the choruses, in addition to the 200 junior high and grade school pupils who have taken part in the song-writing contest.

Subjects chosen for the song-writing contest are the masterpieces with which the children have become familiar thru picture study lessons conducted in their art classes.

Music lovers of the city and vicinity are invited to the Franklin high auditorium tomorrow evening for the chorus contests, the results of which will be announced from the stage by Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools.

Scarlet Fever Is Reported In County

County Health Officer George Montgomery Has Recently Quarantined Nine Cases

County Health Officer George Montgomery reports that there are at present nine cases of scarlet fever in the county, outside the city of New Castle. He has quarantined all of the cases. Aside from these cases the county appears to be in a healthy condition.

In his rounds during the past week Mr. Montgomery found two dead cows in the Slippery Rock creek, which the owner was directed to haul out and bury. A dead horse was also found in the same neighborhood. After the owner had buried it the horse was dug up by dogs and had to be buried deeper.

It is against the law, says Mr. Montgomery, to leave dead animals decay on top of the ground, owing to the resultant pollution of the atmosphere.

State Inspector Speaks At Noon

Kiwanis Club Hears A. B. Dunn, Of Baden, Discuss Food Bureau

A. B. Dunn, of Baden, Pa., representative of the Pennsylvania state agricultural department in his interesting 20 minute address before the Kiwanis Club at the Elks Club this afternoon, recited briefly the comprehensive functions of the department's bureau of foods and chemistry.

Mr. Dunn told them that the agricultural department which he serves, is separated into five different bureaus, one of the most important of which is the bureau of foods upon which he chose to speak.

His outline of the food division's enormous work, of the amount of effort involved in preventing impure foods from reaching the consumers and of the prosecutions of those who willingly defy the state's food code, was most instructive. He said 20 special agents operate throughout Pennsylvania and are constantly on guard against any impure commodities.

Citing statistics for the fiscal year ending in April, the state inspector revealed that 55,000 different investigations were made during the period, 1,080 of which necessitated prosecution. There were 16,000 food samples analyzed and out of this number eight percent brought prosecutions.

The bi-annual budget for the foods bureau for the 1930-31 period, amounted to $328,000. Of this amount $68,000 was expended during 1930, but in that same year the bureau's revenue amounted to $832,000 or a net gain for the bureau of $665,000.

Judge James A. Chambers, first vice president of the club presided in President C. D. Parker's absence today. Edward Welty, ex-serviceman living here was a special guest.

Nautilus Proves Seaworthiness In Hour Trial Today

(International News Service)

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 13.—Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins' polar submarine, the Nautilus, was brought to the surface of the Thames river at noon today after the first lengthy submersion test since its reconstruction.

"Everything was satisfactory", was the statement of Lieutenant Commander Sloan Danenhower in command of the undersea craft, after the Nautilus came up.

The Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert will keep a scientific rendezvous at the North Pole with the German Graf Zeppelin, was submerged very slowly today as experts went over it carefully for possible leaks or weakness in the structure. The Nautilus remained under for more than an hour.

Gangsters Riddle Home With Bullets

Chicago Gangsters Try Three Times To Kill Reputed Member Of Beer Ring

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 13.—Gangsters who last night made three unsuccessful attempts to kill James L. Quigley, reputed member of a South Side beer mob, today were the objects of a police search.

Early in the evening, the would-be assassins fired several shots at Quigley's house, one bullet crashing through a kitchen window.

Two hours later the gangsters returned and sprayed the front of the home with bullets. Although Quigley and his two small daughters were in a front room, they were uninjured.

Quigley reported the second attack to police and was taken to the detective bureau for questioning. While he was absent, his enemies returned a third time to the home and again fired on the place.

Scouts' Outdoor Events Saturday Interests Public

Spring Field Meet Program To Occur On Washington High Field

POSTPONE MEET IF WEATHER IS BAD

Entries for the competitive Spring Field Meet and Round-up of the 14 Boy Scout troops in the New Castle district, embracing New Wilmington, Bedford, Mahoningtown, Bessemer and other outlying points, to be held on the George Washington junior high school athletic grounds, Saturday afternoon, May 16, were pouring into scout headquarters today.

The outdoor event is sponsored yearly under the direction of the Lawrence County Council office. Competition will be fostered in seven different events. A troop review by Council Commissioner R. F. Davis and other leaders at 2:30 o'clock, daylight time, will open the afternoon program.

Scout Executive Herbert Horton said that should the weather turn out unfavorable the contests will be postponed until the following Saturday, May 23.

Events Are Listed.

Rules by which the meet will be run have been forwarded to scoutmasters of the troops concerned so that no mistake can be made as to what basis will be employed by the judges when giving decisions. Commissioner Davis will officiate as head judge.

Only one entry from each troop is permitted in each event.

Executive Horton, summarizing the contests as they will be run, said:—

Event No. 1 will be the troop review in which the troops will pass the judges in column of patrols. Troop committeemen present will also take part.

Event No. 2 will be tent pitching in which will compete teams made up of two scouts.

Event No. 3 will be a signalling contest, both international and semaphore. Teams will include from three to five scouts, according to the wishes of the respective troops.

Event No. 4 will be fire by friction and here but one scout will constitute a team.

Event No. 5, water boiling, in which the scouts will compete to boil water the quickest. That team which lights a fire and has the water heated to a boiling point first will take the prize.

Event No. 6 will be the firemen's carry relay and here each team will have eight scouts competing. Attention will be given to the proper position used by the boys who carry the 'victim'.

Event No. 7, the closing event of the afternoon, will be a dressing race.

Before the start of events, scout leaders responsible for a certain troop will send to the judges a list of their entries for all contests except the first, the troop review.

DEMENTED SLAYER OF STATE TROOPER HEAVILY GUARDED

probably remain in the institution for the rest of this week.

State police, meantime, conferred with Fulton county authorities regarding murder charges to be placed against the alleged maniac for the killing of Sergt. McCarthy and the wounding of Knies. The latter was in good condition today, his wounds not being serious.

As soon as Lodge recovers from the operation performed last night, it was said, he will be taken back to Fulton county and arraigned on murder charges in connection with the trooper's death, for the wounding of Knies and allied counts. Whether he will be brought before a sanity commission was undecided.

Called By Relatives.

It was because relatives and neighbors demanded Lodge be arrested and given a mental examination that the troopers yesterday went to the Lodge farm to arrest the slayer.

McCarthy was shot and killed when he went to the farmhouse to get Lodge. Knies was wounded a short time later as he, Sheriff F. G. Yonker and two deputies exchanged shots with Lodge, barricaded in his home.

Lodge, who was first reported to have fled into the nearby mountains, surrendered after reinforcements of troopers went to the farm from the sub-stations here and at Bedford and poured bullets into his farm home, one slug shattering his right arm near the elbow.

Pinchot Praises Trooper.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Before leaving on a tour of the western part of the state Governor Gifford Pinchot today issued a statement paying tribute to Sergeant Timothy G. McCarthy, state policeman killed yesterday near McConnellsburg while attempting to arrest Marshall Lodge.

"Sergeant Timothy G. McCarthy died in the first line of civilization yesterday," the governor said.

"He obeyed to the full the pledge of the state police. His life was given in an effort to protect other lives from a killer.

"Pennsylvania loses a first class fighting man and first class citizen in the death of Tim McCarthy. When we consider the courage, devotion to service and comparatively small pay of the state police, and the temptations toward softer living, which assail us all in these days, we should be proud that such men as McCarthy are fellow servants of the state.

"I sympathize deeply with his relatives and congratulate the state police that it has produced a man of his stature."

Flags Are Received For Memorial Day

County Commissioners Get Two Hundred And Fifty Dozen For Soldiers' Graves

Two hundred and fifty dozen small flags have been received by the county commissioners to be placed on the graves of soldiers buried in the various cemeteries of the county. These flags will be distributed to committees previous to Memorial day, and a flag will be placed on each soldier's grave.

Graves of soldiers have been designated by copper markers which are are left in the graves during the year. In some instances they are missing. It is reported that in some cases vandals have stolen the markers, and in others it has been found that the marker has been taken from the grave of the soldier and placed on some other grave. In Greenwood cemetery, markers have been found on the graves of women.

It has been suggested that any person knowing of vandalism of this kind report it to the superintendent of the cemetery, and if possible the name of the person, or persons responsible, and the proper authorities will see that prosecutions follow.

The county commissioners have a supply of markers which can be obtained where needed.

Hoover Policies Upheld By Doak

Secretary Doak Says Administration Doing Everything To Protect Citizens

TRAINMEN HEAR DOAK IN TEXAS

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Tex., May 13— The Hoover administration is bending every energy to protect the rights of American citizens from the invasion of foreign labor, Secretary of Labor W. N. Doak told the sixth triennial convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen today.

He said it was regrettable there had been and still are some immigrants allowed to enter the country "who seemingly are not at all concerned with improving their own conditions and upholding our institutions, but who cherish and seek to put into effect an entirely different purpose."

Doak said there was no place in this country for those who would come with an intention other than to make and keep their homes on a plane of American standards.

"It is a self-evident protective proposition that those who do not sincerely embrace our principles should be made to return to the places from which they came," he declared.

MEN ARRESTED AT DRY CLEANING PLACE

Shortly before midnight Tuesday, the watchman at the Fish Dry Cleaning plant reported to the police that there were two men loitering about the place and acting in a suspicious manner. Officers Dukes and Lockard answered the call and arrested Joe Ward and Rocco Lambert, who claimed that the former worked at the plant and had been given permission by the watchman to sleep there. This was denied by the watchman. They were discharged by the mayor this morning.

Anti-Saloon League Will Organize For Nation-Wide Drive

Believe Prohibition Will Be Big Issue Of 1932 Presidential Campaign

Will Set Up Branches Of League In At Least 2,500 Counties Of Nation

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Believing prohibition will be a big issue in the 1932 national campaign and facing constant attacks by the wets, the Anti-Saloon League of America today is reviving the organization plan which made prohibition a part of the Constitution in 1920.

This plan of organization, involving a large expenditure of money and energy, calls for branches of the league in at least 2,500 counties throughout the nation.

One-Thousand Orators

When the drive of the Anti-Saloon League reaches its zenith during the presidential campaign. It is expected at least 1,000 orators will be speaking in defense of prohibition from both a political and educational standpoint.

This development of the Anti-Saloon League is also the League's answer to repeated demands upon the part of some dry advocates for a "new deal" and a new leadership in the prohibition movement.

The first move of the Anti-Saloon League will be to "plug up" holes in its state organizations. In the last few years, some states have been without superintendents at times, or two states have been merged under one head.

The second part of the plan is to extend the state organizations into all counties. There are 3,100 counties in the nation of which 2,585 were counted dry at the height of the political-prohibition movement.

Line of Defense

"These 2,500 counties are the front line of defense of the prohibition movement," said Dr. F. Scott McBride, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. "They were dry before 1920, and they carried the prohibition banner to success.

"We have state organizations in all states but have not paid superintendents in all of them. New Mexico and Arizona have been under one head. Under our plan, each will have a superintendent.

"We have filled vacancies in Tennessee and Wyoming, built a new organization in other states.

County Committees

"Each state organization will have county committees. ome of them now are putting on 'county clinics.' Half of the counties in Ohio have been organized, and all will be. I have just come from Wisconsin where the repeal of the state prohibition law and attacks on the amendment have caused county meetings to be held to win back the state.

"We will have about 500 regular workers and probably 1,000 speakers next year. Business men's groups are being formed to cooperate with us. Fully 90 per cent of our work is education."

McBride sees prohibition as a big issue in 1932. Whether it is the predominant issue in the presidential campaign depends on developments, he says.

Political Issue

"I believe prohibition will be one of the prominent issues before the people in 1932," said McBride. "It has been forced that way by the wets. If the national conventions of both major parties take positions for enforcement and the candidates back up the platforms, it won't enter into the presidential campaign, but it is certain to be an issue in the election of Senators and Representatives.

"Prohibition will be a political issue but not necessarily a partisan one. The stand of individual candidates may make the issue."

Denying the drys "let down" in their educational work after the prohibition amendment was adopted, McBride said the activities of the wets are bringing the question home more forcefully now.

REDUCE SCHOOL TAX MILLAGE FOR ELLWOOD

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13.—A seven mill reduction in the school tax will go into effect for the next school term in Ellwood City was the decision of the board of education at its regular meeting last night, the rate being reduced from 35 to 28 mills.

The committee of H. W. Smith, chairman, Blaine Hancher, W. E. Bayers, and J. W. Offutt for the budget for the school year of 1931-32 received the unaminous approval of the remaining members of the board of education, for its fine work in drawing up this budget.

The board at its last meeting decided to cut all expenses to the bone and observe the Edmund's law concerning teachers' salaries. The present salaries are higher than the state law warrants and therefore the committee planned not to increase salaries for next year and to hire new teachers at the lowest possible salary schedule.

After some serious computation and consideration the committee presented to the board that a sum of $12,000 will be cut from the budget for the next school year and the tax millage which was previously at 35 mills was set at 28 mills and which will go into effect on July 1. The $5 per capita tax will stand. The reduction will save the people $50,000 for the year.

The new tax rate will not create any sinking fund but yet will be sufficient so that it will not be necessary to draw from this fund.

In keeping with the plan of maintaining expenses at its lowest ebb the board turned down the suggestion of carrying on hand practice for a period during the summer vacation.

Ask Teachers To Aid Chest Drive

Committee From Board Is Appointed To Present Matter

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13.—A committee of Blaine Hancher, W. Ray Smith, superintendent of schools, and R. K. Mattocks, secretary of the board of education, were appointed by the president of the board, Dr. H. E. Helling, to put the community chest drive across among the teachers of the local schools.

The committee hopes that the teachers will consent to give to the chest between 1 and two per cent of their salaries because of the great need this year. Less than one-half of one per cent was asked for last year. The teachers are considered a fortunate group in the community at present and should willingly donate their share to a worthy cause.

It is estimated that there are 1000 salaried people in Ellwood City who earn a total of $1,525,000 annually and $500,000 still is made by others. Figuring on a 1 per cent basis of salaries a sum of $20,000 could be collected for the fund. The remainder of the quota of $27,500 may be obtained from other sources. But there are always many people who fail to contribute to the fund and this group is expected to increase this year. Therefore it is safe to figure on a basis between 1 and 2 per cent for the community.

Pre-School Clinic Plans Are Made

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13.—The recommendation of the school medical inspector, Dr. G. Evans, was accepted by the board of education last night at its regular meeting in the Linconl high school.

Dr. Evans' suggestion was to adopt a pre-school clinic in the medical room of the school during the first week of June. He stated that there are about 230 to be examined before the next school term which are available at the time suggested. This clinic would save a great deal of time and trouble in the fall. The only expense for this work would be the necessity of retaining the school nurse and an additional month in which to complete her work.

KLEE JUT KLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13.—The members of the Klee Jut Klub were delightfully entertained last night at the home of Mrs. Ray Conner on Glenn avenue as they gathered for their regular meeting.

Bridge occupied the attention of the guests for the greater part of the evening with two tables being at play with the prizes going to Miss Jerry Turner and Mrs. Ray Johnston who was a special guest on the occasion.

A menu appealing to the palate was served by the hostess in the lovely surroundings of spring flowers. She was assisted by Miss Turner.

Miss Sue Cox invited the club to meet at her home on Spring avenue for their next regular meeting in two weeks.

Good Attendance In Ellwood Schools

Board Hears Reports—Other Matters Before Session Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13.—A satisfactory attendance in the Ellwood City School district was reported at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education last night in its rooms in the Lincoln High School. Although a noticeable drop is apparent in the attendance for the month of April, is much due to the younger set who have contracted mumps and measles. The percentage was 95 for the month.

The teacher of the Home Group Class, Mrs. Joe Young reports the attendance in her classes for the month of April was good. There are 53 enrolled and constitute 11 classes. It was announced that one member of this class received his citizenship papers last week as a result of his training by Mrs. Young.

It was announced that a total of 1284 patrons attended the night school sessions conducted by the board some time ago. The attendance has dropped off from former years but the sessions proved very satisfactory and perhaps will be continued again next year.

The board was pleased to know that Dr. M. M. Pearce, president of Geneva College has been secured to deliver the commencement address on May 22 in the Lincoln Auditorium. Rev. Robert L. Little is the baccalaureate speaker on May 17. A class of 97 will graduate at this time.

The board at this time after a discussion granted permission for the January class of 1931 to hold a party and dance in the gymnasium of the school with the proper chaperonage on a date that will not conflict with any school activities.

Secretary of the board, R. K. Mattocks announced that he has received a sum of $7700 from the local tax collector for school purposes.

An appreciation of the school paper and its sponser Miss Helen McNitt was expressed by the board. It is the first time that such a paper has thrived in the local school and the board is deeply interested in the matter. Because of this paper a journalism class has been functioning in the high school for the past semester and is showing good results.

The floor proposition and the emergency lighting system in the Lincoln Auditorium were referred to the architect and attorney for a recommendation in writing. Both have proved unsatisfactory and the board is planning some definite action.

Work Of Scouts Deserves Support In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13. — In the campaign set-up of the 1931 Community Chest the Boy and Girl Scouts have been placed in group three because it was felt that the relief agencies and the care of the sick was of first importance.

The need for building a finer and better citizenry is an important task in this day of mounting crime figures. Scouting aims to provide training during youth to develop leaders.

The Girl Scouts have five troops in Ellwood City. The activities include leadership training, day and overnight hikes, swimming instruction, cooking, first aid, and signalling instruction.

During the past year a camp house was built on the Newton Farm at Wurtemburg at a cost of about $800. The site was donated as was also the stone for the fireplace and considerable skilled labor.

The house is 26 feet square and has a ten foot porch. Both the site and the Scout House has received the approval and endorsement of the Girl Scout National Camp.

So well has Ellwood City's Scout work been regarded by National Headquarters that the local council has been asked to include many lone Scout Troops in their activities from smaller communities.

Last year the Girl Scouts received $600 from the Community Chest. This has been reduced to $540.00 this year although much more is needed to operate the growing activities.

But the amount allowed this year by the Chest will be available only if the campaign goal of $27,500 is fully reached. It is therefore hoped that everyone will give generously during the Chest week, May 18-23 to assure the continuance of Scouting.

She drew a comparison of the idealistic or poetic mother and the real mother that everybody knows. Her address was very interesting and was much enjoyed by the assemblage.

Also there was some special music for the occasion, in charge of Charles Carbeau, who rendered a vocal selection, "Little Mother of Mine". He was accompanied by Mrs. Carbeau.

Special guests on the occasion included William J. Moore of Pittsburgh, who was an early resident of this city; D. H. Plan New Fence At Central School

Iron Fence To Be Constructed —Other Actions Of School Board

ELLWOOD CITY, May 13. — A new fence around the Central school lawn will be built with the approval of the borough council, was a decision reached by the board of education last night at its regular meeting.

The type of fence selected was the kind used at the Shelby Club House with the iron posts and caps and a big chain. This was chosen not only because of its serviceability but also because of its artistic value. Its construction will cost $130. This property will go over to the city by the first of next year and therefore the board hopes that council will agree to pay one-half of the sum. This proposition will be presented before a committee of the council in the city hall Thursday evening.

Thoughtless people for some time have been cutting across the Central school lawn as a short cut to Lawrence avenue and the board hopes to have the favorable approval of the council for the construction of this fence and prevent further practice of this.

The board at this time refused to accept the proposition of the borough council for paying as their share a sume of $18 for hiring a custodian for the municipal tennis courts. It was pointed out that a mutual agreement stated that the borough was in charge of the courts at all times except when the school uses them and at which time it stands the expenses. The board wished the matter to continue this way.

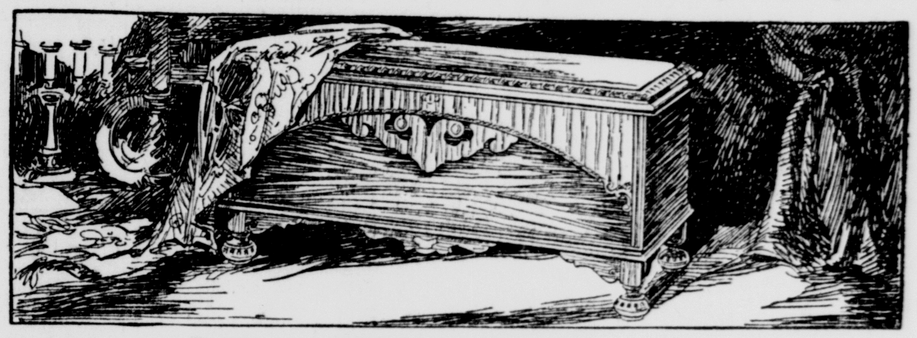
a chest . . . steeped in the romance of the past



THE DOWLING DOWRY CHEST

The design of this chest reverts to an old dowry chest said to have been used in the Court of King James I in about the year 1620.

According to the story, one of the court attaches, a Sir Henry Dowling, had one daughter whom he loved very dearly.

This daughter, Amelia, had been sent to a convent on the continent. When she was ready to return to England, Sir Henry, in true fatherly fashion, desired to commemorate her home-coming with a gift.

So he called in the artisans and he ordered them to make a chest which should surpass all others in beauty. He selected the wood, watched the work step by step, and finally when the chest was completed, nobody in all the Court had ever seen one lovelier.

Amelia came home. She accepted the chest with heart overflowing with joy. And, according to the story which ends just as all such stories should, she married, settled down and lived happily ever after.

The gift from her father then passed on down through many generations, finally to bestow its wealth of beauty and romance upon this modern adaptation, the Dowling Hope Chest, specially designed for the Girl Graduate by Lane—the world's foremost cedar chest maker.

Now offers INSURED MOTH PROTECTION

This Dowling Dowry Hope Chest has the loveliest of Oriental and American walnut veneers on the outside and the choicest of aromatic red cedar heartwood on the inside, the cedar being ¾ inch thick in accordance with the U. S. Government recommendations for a moth-killing cedar chest. It also carries a free Lane Moth INSURANCE POLICY guaranteeing against moth damage up to $250.00 for 5 years. Heavily paneled top richly embellished with hand carved moldings. The chest is roomy, capacious, inviting—indeed a charming treasure to hand down to future generations.

We shall be most happy to have you inspect this chest. For the Girl Graduate—for any girl or young woman—no finer or more acceptable gift is easily conceivable. The price is $35. Remember, the cost of one moth-ruined garment will more than pay for a Lane! Convenient terms may be arranged, if desired. We show many other pleasing Lane models from $16.50 up.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Nathaniel Wyeth—3. Wyeth's First Expedition, 1832

·IN THE FALL OF 1831 NATHANIEL WYETH WAS IN ST. LOUIS READY TO LEAD HIS COLONIZING EXPEDITION TO THE PACIFIC COAST. VETERAN PLAINSMEN POKED FUN AT WYETH'S CURIOUS WAGON-BOAT AND HE LEFT IT BEHIND WHEN HE STARTED FROM ST. LOUIS WITH 21 MEN.

·THEN CAME THE LONG, PERILOUS MARCH TO THE WEST, THROUGH THE HUNTING GROUNDS OF FIERCE, PREDATORY INDIANS; THE HARDSHIPS INCREASING AS THE WHITE MEN PLUNGED DEEPER INTO THE WILDS . . . . . .

BEFORE THE MOUNTAINS WERE REACHED, MOST OF WYETH'S FOLLOWERS GREW FAINT-HEARTED. THIRTEEN OF THEM FLATLY REFUSED TO GO ANY FARTHER AND RETRACED THEIR STEPS BACK TO THE FRONTIER . . . . . .

·THIS WAS A HARD BLOW, BUT WYETH WOULD NOT TURN BACK AND, WITH THE REMAINING EIGHT MEN, BOLDLY PUSHED ON ACROSS THE ROCKIES AND INTO THE OREGON COUNTRY . . . . . .

Firpo And Bruce To Try For 'K. O.'

Rivals To Return Here In Hope Of Producing Sleep Punch

LAST BATTLE HAS SPECTATORS TALKING

Is a left hook to the stomach more productive of a knockout than a right to the jaw? Sam Bruce, Buffalo boy of color, claims it is and Henry Firpo, Louisville exponent of punch declares it is not.

They fought here a week ago Monday night. The fistic lust in every fan in the bowl raced rampant and as they're scheduled for a return bout next Monday night, spectators expect one or the other to be flattened like a rug.

Bruce had Firpo gasping for breath in the fifth round and Firpo had Sam rocking on his heels in the seventh. Bruce used a left to the stomach to punish Firpo and Henry tossed a right that reared cobwebs in Bruce's head.

After the fight, Firpo told the writer: "He hit me a terrific punch to the stomach. I don't know how I kept my feet. The agony was awful. My legs apparently were paralyzed but I held my feet the pain left and I came through."

Sam Bruce wasn't bashful about explaining how he felt in the seventh. "Firpo hits like electricity and when he nailed me with a right to the jaw I rocked to and fro. I clinched until my head cleared, otherwise I would have fallen."

These were the two best punches of the fight though there were times when they stood toe to toe, belted to head and body and kept the fans in an uproar. In fact fans claim it was the best battle in the bowl during three years.

It was so close that Tommy Jones, one judge, called the bout a draw. George Chip, former middleweight champion gave the scrap to Firpo. The disagreement resulted in a ballot by Referee Eddie Kennedy and he voted in favor of Firpo.

Fans Urged Return

Following the bout scores of fans requested that Firpo and Bruce be rematched but uttering the request and making that match were two different things and the rematch was only made after a week of untiring effort.

Larry Keogh, manager of Firpo did not want to remate Firpo with Bruce. He demanded bigger terms and when his financial request was granted he harped about Bruce demanding that Firpo make 155 pounds instead of 158.

"Firpo got the decision and that is enough for us. I don't want to rematch Firpo and wont if Bruce demands 155 pounds," declared Keogh. Harry McCoy, manager of Bruce, stood adamant for 155 pounds. He also demanded a bigger purse.

The controversy raged for a day after the fight. Firpo left the city. Bruce left the next day with the match unmade. Keogh returned from Cleveland and agreed to sign at 156 pounds, not one ounce less.

This information was telephoned to McCoy and Bruce who had gone to Boston and McCoy replied: "I'll telegraph authorization to sign the contract. I believe Bruce can knock out Firpo if Henry weighs a ton."

So they're coming again Monday and what a scrap it should be! Sam knows that the decision Firpo holds will hurt him financially and he is anxious to either reverse it or win by a knockout.

Firpo realizes that Bruce is one of the best fighters in the country and the decision he earned will fatten his pocketbook. If he is capable of winning again his earnings will be increased. That's the way the situation stands.

Howard Webb of Indianapolis will take on Frankie Frey of New Castle in the six round semi-final. Webb is a new face. He is reported to be a good glove hurler. Frankie is a tough kid and hits good. They will weigh 155.

Adamo Meets Gray

Marshal Couette, unbeaten except once since he started his career, will tackle Buz Hardy the "hard rock" of Beaver Valley. Buz had fought some nice fights here. They're listed for four rounds at 130 pounds.

Johnny Young, a youngster of Cleveland will try out Ray Ritchie and Young Di Muccio will meet Young if he wins, on the next card. Young and Ritchie have agreed to weigh 122 pounds and are docketed for four chapters.

Nick Adamo, Seventh ward, has decided to start all over again and will meet Homer Gray, the pride of Grant street. Adamo has fought five or six times. Gray has entered the fistic wars once. He's foxy and clever.

The bouts Monday night will start at nine o'clock daylight savings time and owing to the prominence of the battlers and an increase of fistic fever hereabouts the bowl may be jammed.

If weather warms it is probable the place will be converted into an open-air arena for May 18 show. The officials will be selected by the Commonwealth Athletic commission of which Havey Boyle is the district supervisor.

Athletics Gain Top Of League

Athletics By Beating White Sox Take Lead In American League

BRANDT WINS HIS FIFTH CONTEST

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Philadelphia Athletics today went into the lead in the American league and painful as it may be to some folks, it looked as though the race in the junior circuit from now on will be about as exciting as the Fourth of July in China.

When the A's can trail in league hitting and still snatch the top of the column, it appears almost a cinch they will have little trouble keeping out in front when their hitters get swinging properly.

Grove In Shape.

Simmons, hitting .420, and Cochrane, are the only Connie Mack boys clouting at their sustained click and on top of that some of the pitchers have been ill and off form. Generally the club has been in a rundown, feverish condition, but right out of a sick bed, it walked over the aspiring Yanks, Cleveland and Washington.

Lefty Grove celebrated his return to the lists, after a layoff due to a bad arm and a cold, by holding the White Sox to four hits. Philadelphia won, 5 to 2.

Jimmy Foxx appears to be normal again, getting three hits off Pat Caraway. Simmons hit his fifth homer of the season, and now is tied with Stone of Detroit for the circuiter honors in the league.

Boston outhit Detroit, but Vic Sorrell kept the Red Hose safeties well spaced and the Tigers took it, 2 to 0. In the sixth inning Sorrell found himself with the bases filled with Red Sox and no one out, but he fanned the next man up and the next two popped out.

Brandt, southpaw hurler of the Boston Braves, recorded his fifth straight victory, turning back the Reds 4 to 2. The win gave Brandt one more victory than his entire total last season. Cincinnati broke its losing streak by defeating Boston in the second game, 3 to 2, Hendrick, late of the Brooklyn Robins, and Heathcote, the former Cub, supplying doubles for the winning run in the eighth. Johnson, for the Reds, and Cunningham, for the Braves, each allowed seven hits.

Cold and rain kept other clubs idle.

Leonard Will Get Letter At Thiel

Former New Castle High Star, Thiel Grid Captain Will Get Fourth Letter

FRANK LEONARD

Frank Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leonard, 210 S. Jefferson street, will receive his fourth varsity football letter on May 15, when Thiel college celebrates its annual Gold Letter Day. The day's festivities include a morning chapel program, when varsity athletes and intra-mural champions will receive awards; an afternoon inter-fraternity swim and a football scrimmage to climax spring football, and an evening dance sponsored by the lettermen's club—the Varsity "T" club.

Leonard played a stellar game at guard for four years, captaining the team last year. In addition to his athletic activities, he is very prominent in social affairs.

Right Shoulder Is Important Factor In Hitting At Tee

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

NUMBER 15

The right shoulder plays a most important part in hitting the ball from the tee.

The "right shoulder" means to hit down into the ball. This method keeps the right arm in close to the body and allows the left arm to hit against the right side.

The right arm must follow an arc and complete that arc by hitting out and around.

The mistake the average player makes is in sweeping the right arm around and across the ball, causing it to slice.

Never sweep the ball from the tee.

To accomplish this the head must act as a pivot and the right shoulder must come under the chin.

Should the head raise this would allow the shoulder to come around on the ball and the result would be a sweeping motion and the ball would cut to the right.

The illustration gives the player an exaggerated idea of what is meant by getting this shoulder under the chin. The hands and the club have come in contact with the ball and the right shoulder is about to follow through, on after the shot, keeping it straight through the fairway.

This also is a good illustration of hitting against the left leg and the elbow is kept close to the body.

Practice this action with the head held in position and follow on through with the right arm until you become accustomed to the swing.

Swing under, out and up.

Pittsburgher Is Derby Favorite

Horse Owned By Pittsburgh Man Shows Well At Derby Track

EASTERN HORSES REPORTED FAST

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13—If any western horse is to beat such eastern candidates as Mate and Twenty Grand in the Kentucky derby Saturday, it probably will have to be Pittsburgher, according to today's opinions of the railbirds.

Running at a disadvantage on a wet track, Pittsburgher, owned by T. E. Mueller, yesterday took first place over other prominent western contenders in the race known as the Derby trail.

Pittsburgher covered the mile and sixteenth in 1:45-3-5. It was generally admitted that he will like a fast track better and is the chief obstacle to the hopes of eastern owners to bear off the $50,000 Derby prize to the Atlantic seaboard.

Three quarters of a length behind Pittsburgher in the Derby trial finished Spanish Play, the winter track champion. Charles Fisher's sweep all came under the wire a close third.

The three other starters, Prince D'Armour, the Mongol and Major Lanphier, were badly outclassed.

Experts were inclined to agree that both Spanish Play and Sweep all would have taken the race away from Pittsburgher had the distance been any greater. Both these candidates proved themselves reliable.

While the westerners engaged in the Derby trial, the six crack eastern horses were taken out for light gallops.

Anchors Aweigh and Twenty Grand of the Greentree stables worked an easy half together in :50-3-5. Another Greentree pair, Surf Board and St. Brideaux, went over the same distance in :50. St. Brideaux is hardly considered Derby material, Nate galloped five furlongs in 1:06-3-5, while Equipoise and Ladder merely cantered.

"Like Father—"

Ruth Ruether (above) is proving that the old adage which ran, "like father, like son," can be modernized to include girls as well. Ruth, daughter of Walter "Dutch" Ruether, Seattle pitcher, former Cincinnati, New York Yankee and Washington southpaw, is following in her father's footsteps by alternating between the pitcher's box and third base for the Hollywood women's baseball team.

In Favor as Derby Racer

Morstone (above), with Catrone up, sterling son of the great Morvich, shows great promise of bringing the coveted glory of winning the Kentucky Derby to the East just as Gallant Fox upset the hopes of the Western thoroughbreds last year by winning the Blue Grass classic. In two outings this Benjamin Block Derby hope ran away with the field both times, finishing under wraps just a fifth of a second above record time. Should he win the Derby, like his famous pappy did, he will be the first son to follow his sire's footsteps in the greatest of American turf classics.

Brooklyn Mogul Talks Of Trades

President Frank B. York, Of Brooklyn Robins, Bemoans Weak Hitting

DODGERS FAIL TO DISPLAY CLASS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 13.—Some of the high-salaried ball players on the Brooklyn club are likely to find themselves traded to another team unless they start batting up to their reputations in the next ten days, President Frank B. York of the Robins told the writer today.

"I know the boys are trying their hardest, and I think they will snap out of it soon," said the energetic leader of the Dodgers. "But if they don't start to hit in the next week or ten days, we will have to make some changes.

Are Weak Hitters

"As a matter of fact, I think the boys are trying too hard. The hitters are tightening up and pressing like a golfer who is off his game. The club was picked by many experts to win the pennant and yet here we are in seventh place, eight and a half games out of the lead and with only two regulars batting over .250."

Asked what player might be traded, York produced today's batting averages.

"Here are seven regulars batting nearly a hundred points under their normal marks," he pointed out. "Read 'em and weep."

The averages, in truth, give York good cause to gnash his molars. Here are the backsliders:

Thompson, .250; Bissonette, .247; Gilbert, .238; Lopez, .229; O'Doul, .205; Wright, .203, and Frederick, .200.

Lombardi, the goki catcher from the Pacific coast, who is hitting .407, and Babe Herman, who is batting .315, are the only two regulars on the club with respectable marks.

Pitchers Look Good

York said he was satisfied with the pitching the club has been getting, and had no bone to pick with Uncle Wilbert Robinson's management of the team.

"Robby's all right, but he can't bat for them."

It has just leaked out that York invaded the team's dressing quarters a few days ago and read the riot act to the boys. It was the first time he had visited the players' dressing room since he became president of the club.

York said today that he merely "had a little chat with the boys". Reports from other sources, however, state that he gave the hired help a red-hot lecture, declaring that Brooklyn fans were entitled to a better run for their money and accusing the players of loafing.

If any Brooklyn players are traded before the time limit expires on June 15, they probably will be sent to the Reds or Phillies, which would mean smaller salaries when their present contracts expire. This threat of trade and a subsequent salary cut undoubtedly will get more results than any "pep" talk York could have delivered.

Two Boys Hit By Automobile

Police Hear Of Several Accidents On The Streets Of The City

Michael Weber of 1620 Huron avenue, was enroute west on Arlington avenue above Finch street Tuesday, when two boys ran from the south to the north side of Arlington avenue in front of his machine and were hit and knocked to the street.

One of the boys, Tony Mundziak, aged 5, one of the boys, got up and ran home, where he was followed and it was found that he had apparently escaped injury.

The other boy, Richard Morganti, was picked up and removed to the New Castle hospital, where it was found that his injuries were of a minor character. He was discharged from the hospital today.

Salvator Porfilio reported to the police Tuesday that his machine was parked on Mill street waiting for the green traffic light, when another car, the license number of which he did not get, ran into the rear of his machine, damaging it.

It was reported from the Exide Battery station, 117 North Mercer street, that a man drove into the place Tuesday evening after it had been closed and the doors locked and that he had driven his car into the doors, damaging them.

Bill Carries $27,800 For Hospital Here

Slight Increase In State Appropriation Allotted To Jameson Hospital

House appropriations committee of the Pennsylvania State Legislature has reported for passage a bill appropriating $7,765,525 for state aided hospitals, which is $1,385,525 higher than the budget estimate. The appropriations cover the coming two year period.

Included in the bill is the appropriation of $27,800 for the Jameson Memorial hospital. The appropriation for the past two years was $24,000. Jameson Memorial hospital has record of three times as much charity work done by that institution in the past year, as the amount of the state appropriation.

The appropriation for the Almira Home Association of this city in the proposed bill is $8,000 for the next two years, which is a $1,000 more than the appropriation for the past two years.

The bill following its passage by the legislature goes to the governor, who may decrease or increase the amounts designated as he sees fit.

WHEN comparisons and claims are being made for the relative merits of regular gasolines and special motor fuels--we can be neutral.

For The American Oil Company makes both types--AMOCO-GAS, the original special motor fuel and ORANGE AMERICAN, the finest gas at regular gas price. Here's our platform and advice:

If you choose gas for your car on the basis of initial cost--the price at the pump--buy ORANGE AMERICAN, a better regular gas selling everywhere at regular gas price.

If you want the highest type of operating efficiency, the lowest cost per mile, the maximum power it is possible for your car's motor to deliver--then AMOCO-GAS must be your choice.

Whichever you choose--you can't go wrong!

NEW YORK, May 13.—A further drop in the Rails and Utilities in the early trading today unsettled the market as a whole, but losses outside of the Railroad stocks were small and trading tapered off sharply in the second hour. United States Steel, American Can and Consolidated Gas led the way to lower prices at the start, Can dropping off to a new low for the year and U. S. Steel to within a small fraction of the year's low. Then the Industrials rallied and the Specialties moved ahead in company with them.

The weekly Steel trade report was fairly encouraging. The Iron Age shows Steel Mills operations on a par with last week, but there was a further drop in Steel scrap prices. The bears were not successful in the attempt to take advantage of this report. Bankers bills were reduced ⅛ in Boston and New York.

Union Pacific's 6-point drop to 162½ was the feature of the Rails. Atchison fell off 3½ points to 165 and New York Central duplicated its almost daily performance. Central sold today at a new low for the bear market at 91⅛, down 2 points. Missouri Pacific broke under 60 for a loss of 3⅝ for the day and 10 points since Monday. Erie and other popular low-priced Rails scraped the bottom of the present period.

After the early selling wave had spent its force, a better tone was in evidence, particularly in the Industriais and Specialties which have been under the hammer since Monday. Woolworth started a new rally and moved ahead to 71½. Allied Chemical recovered its early losses. Gas and Electric-light shares were also in good demand and American Can rallied to above 106. Call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Carries on Research

Miss Patricia Collins.

Miss Patricia Collins of Atlanta, Ga., senior in the Lamar School of Law, Emory university, has been selected to carry on a series of researches sponsored by the American Law Institute. She will make a study of the disposition of criminal cases which come before grand juries in the state, and follow them through from indictment to sentencing of defendant. The work is part of a national criminal survey.

Air Armada Chief

One of the first army officers to be assigned to aviation, Brigadier-General Benjamin D. Foulois (above), oldest active flyer now in the U. S. Air Service, will command the mighty air division of 672 planes which will participate in the gigantic maneuvers.

Anxious Primate

With latest advices from Madrid telling of the burning of churches and convents, it appears that the troubles of the Provisional Government of the Spanish Republic are not over. On the formation of the republic, its government assured Cardinal Pedro Sigura y Saenz (above), Primate of Spain, that it would support the Church and respect its Concordat with the Vatican.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The court held for Simpkins.

The judges reasoned thus:

Jiggs had no agreement such as would tie Simpkins down. Simpkins' offer was bona fide, but Jiggs merely implied a hope to be able to accept. It therefore was not the definite, unambiguous and unqualified acceptance that is necessary to complete a contract.

Fire Upsets Cotton Fete

The annual cotton festival of Macon, Georgia, was given a severe setback when a huge arch of cotton stretched across the main street, under which the marchers were to parade, caught fire. Townspeople and firemen fought the stubborn blaze for hours before the scheduled pageant could begin. While Macon's decorations were not what they might have been if the fire had not spoiled well-laid plans, the city reported a "good time was had by all," as usual.

Oh! For the Life—

The Navy should receive a spurt in enlistments after this picture gets out. The life of a sailor can't be so dull, even afloat, for here is Ethel Merman, Broadway show star, entertaining the crew of the U. S. S. Salt Lake City in port at New York. The gobs evidently don't have to seek beauty and talent—it comes to them.

Foreign Diplomat Handled Roughly By Two Hijackers

Hijackers Carrying Liquor From Legation Building When Accosted

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Hijackers violated the sancity of international law early today when they attacked Senor Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, counselor and charge D'Affaires of the legation of El Salvador, and attempted to carry away ten cases of choice liquors. El Salvador does not have prohibition and like other foreign diplomats here her representatives are immune from the prohibition regulations and other laws of the United States.

The diplomat was accosted by one of the liquor thieves when he entered the legation after attending a social affair. The man was on the stairs and commanded him to "raise his hands."

Although the stranger held a pistol Levia attempted to resist him and two shots were fired from the gun. The bullets struck the wall. Then Levia was knocked half conscious by blows on the head, presumably from the butt of the gun.

Liquor Forgotten

The lone robber yelled "Pete" and a second man appeared. The two grappled with the diplomat until he broke loose, ran outside and staggered to a delicatessen across the street to telephone the police. Meanwhile the hijackers escaped leaving behind ten cases of liquor which they had laboriously carried from the wine cellar to the yard of the legation.

A formal protest will be made by the legation to the State Department, and under international law and custom, the United States may be called on for an apology and reparation.

In addition to the penalty attached for burglary, assault and the other crimes which may be listed against the culprits if caught, they may be charged with violation of the Federal statutes leading with diplomatic immunity.

Speaking Tour Is Resumed By Pinchot Today

Governor Pinchot Undaunted By Senate Committee Action

PLANS FOR NEW FAIR RATE BILLS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Undaunted by action of the Senate Judiciary general committee in voting to postpone indefinitely action on his Fair Rate Board Bills, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today will resume his stumping tour to whip up support for the measures.

"That's what I call service," commented the governor on the committee's action. "Monday the public utilities come here and demand defeat of the bills. Tuesday their servants in the Senate Judiciary general committee pickle the bills—cause and effect, no mistake.

"But there's a law of physics which says that action and reaction are equal and opposite. We've heard from the invisible government. But the people haven't yet had their say."

Plans New Bills

The governor will leave today for an invasion of Western Pennsylvania to speak in favor of the bills. His first address will be made tonight at Greensburg. Tomorrow he will go to Washington for a speech at noon and a late afternoon radio address; tomorrow night he will speak over the radio from Pittsburgh; and Friday three speeches are scheduled, at Butler, Sharon and Meadville. The tour ends Saturday with talks at Dubois and Bellefonte.

Gov. Pinchot gave no indication of what form his attack on senators opposing the bills will take. He indicated, however, that he will have new bills, covering the changes he thinks necessary in the public service laws, introduced in the House and forced toward passage before the legislature quits work. It was uncertain whether administration senators would attempt to have the committee discharged from consideration of the bills and the move was considered unlikely.

If the Farm Board wants a precedent, there was Joseph who gave surplus wheat to his brethern in famine districts.

Experiments Prove "Gas" Simply Air

Fermentation Of Food In Stomach Is Not Cause Of Ill

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The eructation of gas from the stomach—called in private conversation and less elegant terms belching—has not gone without some study by the medical profession.

The explanation of the phenomenon which is held by all orthodox physicians, does not, however, satisfy most patients with this complaint. The patient wants to know "Where all this gas comes from," and is usually indignant when the physician says "It is gas you have swallowed." He is entirely unconscious of swallowing the gas, is usually wedded to a theory that it arises from fermentation of food in his stomach, and is vehement and sincere in stating that if this trouble came from simply swallowing air he would stop it and get the trouble over with.

But it appears the doctor is right and has good proof on his side. The experiment has been tried many times, and always with the same result. A belcher, one who eructates gas every ten minutes, and even his best friends will tell him about it, is made to sit with his jaws propped open with a mouth-gag so that he cannot swallow at all. So long as he remains this way he has no gas or fermentation, even if he has just had a meal. Nor is there any feeling of accumulation of gas on the stomach which cannot be eructed on account of the gag. A person can belch with the gag in place even if he cannot swallow.

The gas eructed has been analyzed and always found to be air—not gases which might arise from fermenting food. Food seldom forms gases in the process of digestion, either by normal or abnormal digestion, at least in the upper (stomach) portion of the digestive tract. Fermentation may give rise to some gas in the lower bowel, although there is good authority for the statement that even this gas is air absorbed into the bowel from the blood vessels meshed in the intestinal wall.

The swallowing of air is a normal act, accomplished every time even saliva is swallowed. There is always a large gas bubble in the dome of the stomach, an invariable finding in X-ray examinations of the stomach. It probably aids digestion by maintaining the intra-gastric tension.

The loudest and most persistent belchers are either practical jokers or neurotics. They may be unconscious practical jokers, but that is what they are just the same.

The neurotic belcher, convinced that his stomach is the seat of some mysterious chemical experiment, unconsciously gulps down great loads of ozone and then rumbles it forth again. Such people have been described by Heger as "the most excited, irritable, most tense, and often the most anxious of people, who, naturally unconsciously feel suppressed and who wish to externalize or express themselves."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."
